Three New Councilmen Selected In Light Voting

... 'PETE' FIRST NEGRO TO BE ELECTED

By TOM EKVAL
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln attorney Richard H. Hartsock emerged from a field of six candidates and three write-in hopefuls Tuesday as the top vote-getter in the City Council contest.

Also elected to the council were Harry (Pete) Peterson and Merle M. Hale.

The three, who easily won election, lead throughout the vote tabulation.

First Negro

The election of Peterson marked the first time in Lincoln's 100-year history that the voters have elected a Negro to the council.

Peterson said after his election that the public's vote for him is an indication that "Lincoln is becoming broader-minded" regarding the race situation. He said he is happy "people are willing to look at an individual's qualifications and not his race" in voting for council candidates.

The chairman of the Lincoln Human Rights Commission, the 45-year-old Peterson said he will immediately submit his resignation to the mayor.

Turnout Light

The voter turnout was rather light, with some 24,567 or 38% of the 66,277 registered voters going to the polls.

The election commissioner's office said Tuesday night that 239 absentee and disabled ballots remained to be counted. Those ballots, however, will have no effect on the outcome.

The 36-year-old Hartsock, a former FBI agent, received 15,375 votes in the unofficial count, nearly 2,500 more than Peterson, the Number 2 vote-getter.

Peterson's total was 12,870 and Hale's, 10,340.

Finishing fourth was W. Richard Baker, with 8,972 votes.

Write-In Fails

A write-in campaign sponsored by the Lincoln Taxpayers and Homeowners League in protest of actions by the present City Council on zoning, urban renewal, minimum housing and spending matters, failed to generate sufficient interest to challenge any of the candidates on the ballot.

The three write-in candidates received less votes than they did in the primary election last month.

The candidates elected to the City Council, all seeking public office for the first time, have endorsed the concepts of minimum housing, urban renewal, and flexible zoning.

Former Policeman

Both Hartsock and Peterson, a former Lincoln policeman and now public relations and training officer for King's Food Host U.S.A., indicated Tuesday night that one key concern will be additional training for city policemen.

"We have a fine police force now and the additional training will develop an even better force," Hartsock said.

Peterson said during his campaign the police need more training in order to be better equipped to handle the

Magee And Wekesser Re-Elected

Robert Magee and Robert Wekesser easily won re-election to the Lincoln Board of Education Tuesday.

Voters gave Magee a wide margin of victory over the other three candidates. He also received the most votes in the primary election last month.

Wekesser came from a third-place finish in the primary behind Julius Humann to win re-election.

Mrs. Joyce Scholz had run fourth in the primary also, but managed to close the gap between the third and fourth place vote totals Tuesday.

Magee, president of Magee's Clothing Store, received 13,885 votes.

Wekesser, a banker, garnered 10,924 votes.

Mrs. Scholz received 9,909 votes and Humann 9,891 votes.

'Worth His Weight' ... Budget Boss Plan Is Urged

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Budget Committee was told Tuesday that a legislative budget director would be "worth his weight in gold" in terms of budget savings and shorter sessions.

Sen. Herbert J. Duis of McCook, chief sponsor of LB636, envisions the highly-paid director in a key role in the preparation and development of a biennial state budget for consideration of the budget committee and the Legislature.

"The director would take over the policy-making role of the committee," Duis said. His work would shorten the legislative session by early introduction of a proposed budget and reduce the drudgery for the committee.

Five-Year Term

Duis suggested a five-year term and a $40,000 annual salary in his bill, but said both the term and compensation could be left to committee's discretion.

However, Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha, committee member, suggested the Duis proposal "would deprive the budget committee of policy-making decisions and put them in the hands of a paid executive."

"I think the committee should spend more time delving into the budget, and not be delegating it to someone else."

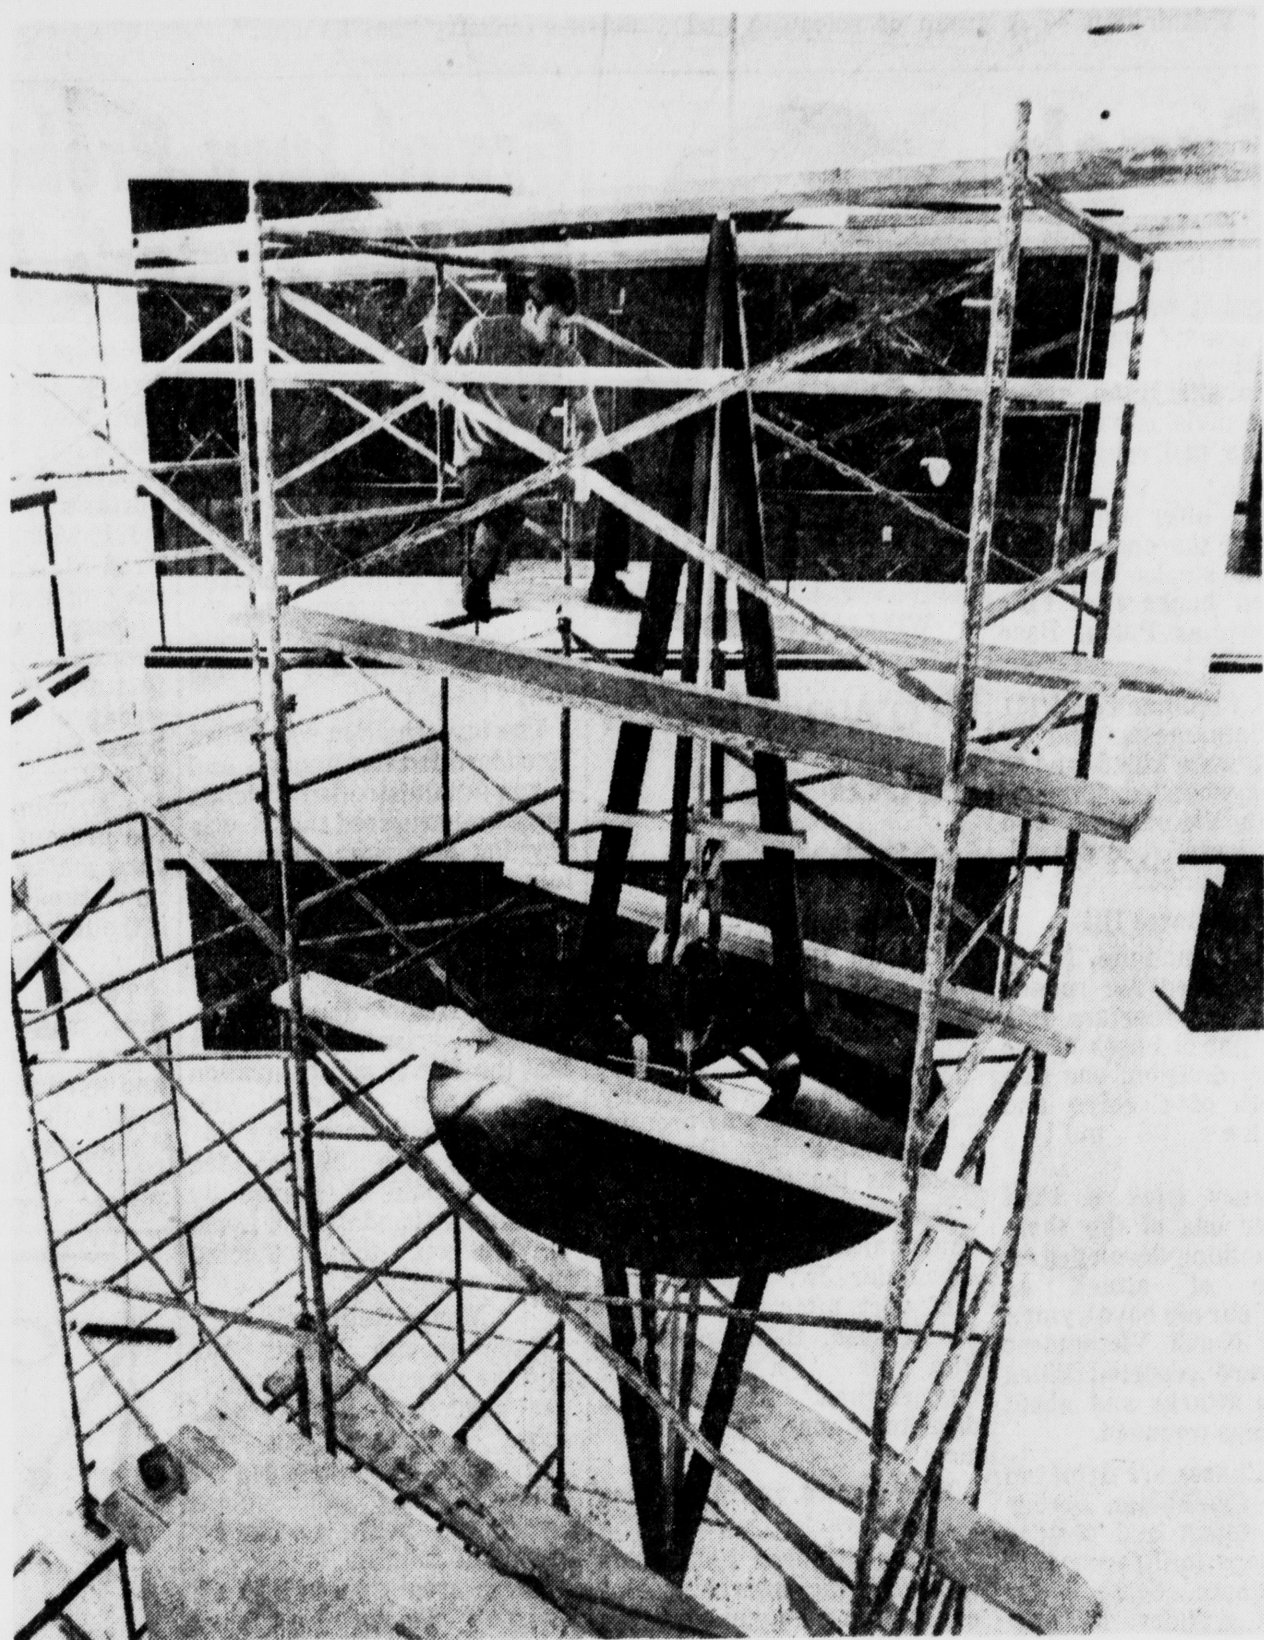

Spare It Detail Work

Duis, likening the budget director to a corporation president working with a board of directors, said the bill's intent was not to take policy-making away from the committee, but only spare it the detail work.

Also supporting the measure was David Tews, Lincoln attorney representing the Friends of Higher Education.

"Interim budget work could be managed by the director and his staff, and the budget committee could start at a higher plateau in the development of the final budget," he said.

There was no opposition, but the committee held the measure for further study.

Pueblo Men 'Have Suffered Enough'

Washington (P) — "They have suffered enough," Navy Secretary John H. Chafee declared Tuesday in overriding the Navy brass to save Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher and two other Pueblo officers from possible punishment because of North Korea's seizure of their spy ship.

At the same time the Navy's civilian chief blocked official reprimands against two senior naval officers, including Rear Adm. Frank L. Johnson, who commanded U.S. naval forces in Korean-Japanese waters at the time of the incident Jan. 23, 1968.

But Chafee stopped short of absolving

Bucher, the Pueblo skipper, or any of the other officers in connection with the loss of the intelligence gathering ship in international waters.

"I make no judgment regarding the guilt or innocence of any of the officers of the offenses alleged against them," he said. "I am convinced, however, that neither individual discipline, nor the state of discipline or morale in the Navy, nor any other interest requires further legal proceedings with respect to any personnel involved in the Pueblo incident."

Chafee disclosed that a court of inquiry, composed of five admirals, had recommended a general court-martial on five charges for Bucher.

Generally, these charges covered alleged failure to take steps to prevent his ship from being captured and failing to block the loss of secret material to the North Koreans.

The court, which sat for 80 days in San Diego, Calif., also called for a general court-martial on three charges for Lt. Stephen R. Harris, who was in charge of the intelligence detachment aboard the Pueblo. His alleged offenses came under the heading of dereliction in the performance of his duties.

The court recommended a letter of admonition for Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr., the Pueblo's executive officer, for alleged dereliction in performance of his duties.

The court's findings recommended letters of reprimand for Johnson, who was U.S. commander of naval forces, Japan, but now has another job, and Capt. Everett B. Gladding, who was director of the Navy security group in the Pacific and is now retired.

Reprimands Recommended

However, Chafee said Adm. John S. Hyland, commander in chief of the U.S. Pacific Fleet, rejected the court-martial recommendations for Bucher and Harris, recommending instead letters of reprimand.

Hyland accepted the recommendations for a letter of reprimand to Johnson and a letter of admonition — less severe — to Murphy, but turned down the reprimand for Gladding. Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chief of naval operations, concurred with Hyland.

The letter of reprimand, which is entered in a naval officer's record, is a black mark which normally adversely affects chances for promotion.

Taking a less harsh stance than the uniformed Navy, Chafee said:

"In reviewing the court's recommendations with respect to Cmdr. Bucher, Lt. Murphy, and Lt. Harris, it is my opinion that — even assuming that further proceedings were had, and even going so far as to assume that a judgment of guilt were to be reached — they have suffered enough, and further punishment would not be justified."

"These officers were illegally imprisoned by the North Koreans for 11 months. During that time, their food and living conditions were marginal. They suffered extensively from physical abuse and torturous treatment."

Chafee said the court held that during Bucher's nearly year-long imprisonment, the Pueblo captain "upheld morale in a superior manner; that he provided leadership by insisting that command structure be maintained and providing guidance for conduct."

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird told newsmen he fully supported Chafee's action. It was a decision "for humanitarian reasons as well as for the future interests of the Navy," he added.

Bucher Satisfied With Navy's Treatment Of Pueblo Inquiry

Coronado, Calif. (P) — Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher said Tuesday he is satisfied with Navy handling of the Pueblo inquiry, relieved that it's over and expects his future will depend on how he handles his next Navy job.

The man in command when North Koreans captured the intelligence ship and some of its secret documents was commenting on word that he will be spared the possibility of punishment, despite a Navy board's recommendation he be court-martialed.

He said through his attorney he is "very relieved that the proceedings are complete and the matter is final." His only plans while awaiting reassignment are to enter a hospital for dental work, probably next week.

To Speak No More

He said he will speak out no more on the Pueblo.

The lean, lined 41-year-old Navy career man, who wants another ship command, spoke but a few words at a news conference at the Navy Amphibious Base here. He was silenced by laryngitis and his attorney read a statement for him.

The attorney, E. Miles Harvey, who represented

Bucher during the 80-day inquiry into the Pueblo's capture and imprisonment of its crew, said when asked if Bucher would have preferred a court-martial to clear his name:

"As far as we are concerned he has been cleared. Charges will be dismissed and we feel this is a final resolution."

Bucher 'Satisfied'

Bucher, Harvey said, "is definitely satisfied with the outcome and is looking forward to his next duty assignment." So far, there has been no assignment announced.

"He understands the court process and has no personal feeling toward any of the court members," Harvey said. He added that Bucher is gratified that the Navy has said certain remedial measures will be taken to prevent future incidents.

Bucher, on leave at his home here, was notified at 7:30 a.m. that the secretary of the Navy had overruled a recommendation by the five-admiral board of inquiry that Bucher be court-martialed on five counts: permitting his ship to be searched while he had power to resist, failing to take protective measures during the attack, complying with North Korean orders to follow gunboats into port, failing to destroy all secret material on board and failing to prepare the crew to destroy secret items.

Washington — In his first major speech since being appointed assistant secretary of state for Latin America, Charles A. Meyer warned Latin America that foreign investment capital "wants to know the rules of the game." Without any mention of Peru, the audience of Latin American corporation officials understood that American investors were adopting a "wait and see" attitude.

Greece Is Warned

London — The ministerial committee of the Council of Europe, after a three-hour debate, adopted a resolution that, in effect, warns Greece that her internal policies violate the principles of human rights on which the council is founded and that she is in danger of expulsion.

Pueblo Men Unpunished

Washington — The Navy announced that no disciplinary action would be taken against the crew of the spy ship Pueblo. (More on Page 1.)

'Cleanout' Begun

Washington — The Republican leadership has begun carrying out a campaign promise to "clean out" the State Department. But instead of a partisan purge, the reorganization seems to be more along the lines hoped for by career foreign service officials. In a memorandum, Undersecretary Elliot P. Richardson has asked for the names of able young people for promotion to important posts in the department.

Hunger Program Proposed

Washington — Under congressional pressure, President Nixon has proposed a new federal antihunger program which will eventually cost $1 billion a year. (More on Page 11.)

Safeguard Criticized

Washington — A group of scientific and academic experts issued a long, analytical report criticizing the Safeguard antimissile system as unworkable and unnecessary. The Pentagon retaliated by branding the report unscientific, inconsistent and replete with errors in assumption and conclusions. (More on Page 2.)

Serious Waste Charged

Washington — A senior Navy procurement official charged serious waste in defense spending because of close relationships between industry, the military services and high-ranking defense officials. Gordon W. Rule told a congressional committee that this relationship created a climate in which the defense industry "has its way."

Investigation Begun

Washington — The Justice Department has quietly begun a grand jury investigation into an action by Justice Abe Fortas' law firm in 1967. The action delayed the producing of documents sought by federal attorney from one of the firm's clients. (More on Page 2.)

Harvard To Erect Housing

Cambridge — Harvard University announced it would construct 1,100 units of low and moderate income housing to alleviate problems caused by expansion. No tenants will be moved until housing at comparable rents is found for people in the buildings to be razed.

34 Die In Viet Helicopter Crash

Saigon (AP) — A big American helicopter crashed and burned 75 miles north of Saigon Tuesday, killing 34 persons and injuring 35 in the worst helicopter disaster of the Vietnam war, military spokesmen reported.

The dead included two American crewmen and 32 South Vietnamese soldiers. One U.S. crewman and 34 South Vietnamese troops were injured.

A U.S. military spokesman said the crash was due to "mechanical failure."

2,598th Lost

The crash of the 14-ton Army CH47 Chinook brought to 2,598 the number of U.S. helicopters reported lost to all causes in eight years of war.

The craft, a workhorse of the Vietnam war, was carrying South Vietnamese infantrymen to an operational area three miles northeast of the provincial capital of Phuoc Ninh.

Wednesday morning reports from the allied commands told of eight overnight shellings against towns and military facilities in South Vietnam. The figure reflected a continuing lull in such attacks.

On the northern frontier, U.S. artillery fired on a North Vietnamese bunker complex and a moving group of North Vietnamese soldiers in the demilitarized zone Tuesday, the U.S. Command said. It reported 11 enemy killed.

In trying to overrun a U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division base 65 miles northwest of Saigon, the North Vietnamese ran into point-blank fire from 12 artillery pieces and a storm of metal from helicopter and plane gunships and fighter-bombers.

The battle pitted about 900 enemy troops against 300 dug-in cavalrymen, and while the assault broke through the barbed wire perimeter at several points, the North Vietnamese could not stand the galling fire.

The 105mm and 155mm artillery set up in the base camp fired 1,600 rounds in helping repel the enemy.

"I thought it was Ia Drang all over again," said Spec. Ronald Moran, Columbus, Ga., an artilleryman referring to the division's first battle in the Ia Drang Valley in 1966.

Six hours after the battle the bodies of the enemy dead still lay in stacks near the sandbagged bunkers of the base, known as Patrol Base Carolyn.

The U.S. Command said 111 North Vietnamese and 9 Americans were killed, and 62 Americans wounded. Twenty-nine North Vietnamese, two of them officers, surrendered. Most were wounded.

2 Other Bases Hit

About the same time, North Vietnamese fired 200 rounds of rockets and mortars into two other patrol bases of the air cavalry division, one five miles south of Carolyn and the other 20 miles southeast.

The enemy tried a light probe after one of the shellings, but nothing developed on the scale of attack on Carolyn. Four air cavalrymen and eight North Vietnamese soldiers were reported killed in the two attacks and about 25 Americans wounded.

The U.S. bases are deployed along the Cambodian border to block, detect and destroy enemy troops infiltrating into South Vietnam. Some bases use their artillery to help other camps that come under attack.

WILLIAM H. BROWN III

Brown Heads Equal Jobs Commission

Washington (AP) — William H. Brown III, a 41-year-old Philadelphia lawyer, was sworn in Tuesday as a member of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and was promptly named by President Nixon as the chairman.

Brown will replace in the chairmanship Clifford L. Alexander Jr., who resigned that post after Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., criticized him for "harassing businessmen" about racial discrimination in employment.

Both Brown and Alexander are Negroes.

Brown declared he intends to pursue the enforcement of equal employment opportunity and to do it "in a fair and impartial manner."

Grand Jury Probe Begun Into Action By Abe Fortas's Former Law Firm

(C) New York Times Service

Washington — The Justice Department has quietly begun a grand jury investigation into an action, taken in 1967 by Justice Abe Fortas's former law firm, that delayed producing documents sought by federal antiracketeering attorneys from one of the firm's clients.

The investigation was under consideration for months, and Nixon administration officials were embarrassed that it was starting at a time when prominent Republicans here were calling upon Fortas to resign from the Supreme Court.

Some Democrats have expressed private suspicions that the Nixon administration may have helped Life magazine with its expose this week of the $20,000 fee allegedly paid to Fortas by the family foundation of Louis E. Wolfson, the convicted stock manipulator.

Money Returned

Even though Fortas has said the money was returned, the disclosure has created acute embarrassment for Democrats here, because of Fortas's long and close association with former President Johnson.

There was grumbling Tuesday among former Democratic Justice Department officials as word circulated through official circles that the administration had asked a federal grand jury in Toledo, Ohio, to look into the matter involving Fortas's former law firm.

It is widely known here that Fred M. Vinson Jr., chief of the department's criminal division under President Johnson, investigated the matter, found no criminal wrongdoing, and closed the books without taking any action. Career lawyers within the criminal division asked the present administration to take another look, and it has now asked a grand jury to see if the law has been violated.

Delay Granted

Two members of the law firm, now called Arnold & Porter, were invited to testify and were scheduled to appear before the Toledo grand jury Wednesday. The two lawyers, Paul A. Porter and Paul S. Berger, were granted a delay.

They may testify in about two weeks.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell is known to have been so eager to avoid any suggestion that the move was motivated by politics that he obtained the opinions of career attorneys outside of the criminal division before he cleared it for presentation to the grand jury.

He then authorized the grand jury investigation. The question is whether the obstruction of justice was committed when Arnold & Porter advised a client under investigation for having allegedly used fake invoices as a cover for Mafia transactions to answer a subpoena by producing real invoices, not fakes.

Kennedy, Pentagon Tangle

(C) New York Times Service

Washington — Under the sponsorship of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., a group of scientific and academic experts issued Tuesday a lengthy, analytical report criticizing the Nixon administration's Safeguard missile system as unworkable and unnecessary.

The Pentagon promptly retaliated by branding the report unscientific in method, inconsistent in argument and replete with errors in its assumptions and conclusions.

The Pentagon chiefs and Kennedy tangled only through their scientific intermediaries. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird was represented by Dr. John S. Foster Jr., director of defense research and engineering. Kennedy was represented by Dr. Jerome E. Wiesner, former science adviser to Presidents Johnson and Kennedy and now provost of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Abram Chayes of Harvard University, former legal adviser to the State Department.

But in the heightening political emotions in the missile defense debate, it was apparent that Kennedy had thrown down a technological challenge to the Pentagon and that the Pentagon chiefs, in turn, were ready, if not spoiling, for a political duel with the senator over the antiballistic missile (ABM) issue.

The incipient Kennedy-Pentagon confrontation which may come to dominate the ABM debate, began last Feb. 19 when Kennedy announced on the Senate floor that he had commissioned Wiesner and Chayes to prepare a "non-Pentagon" report for the Senate on the ABM issue.

The 344-page report, entitled "An Evaluation of the Decision To Deploy an Antiballistic Missile System," was made public by the senator's office in the form of monograph.

The principal conclusion was that militarily there was no need for a decision now to deploy a missile defense system. Claiming that Laird was using "thin and unpersuasive" evidence in support of his contention that the Soviet Union was seeking a "first strike" capability against the United States, the report said:

"We conclude that the deployment of the Sentinel-Safeguard would not enhance the national security but would lessen it."

Technically, the report questioned whether the Safeguard system would work as designed. It introduced a new technical objection by questioning whether it would be possible to program the computers — the heart of the Safeguard system — to handle a large-scale missile attack.

Politically, the report warned that deployment of the Safeguard system would lead to "a serious disturbance of the present strategic balance," prompt a resumption of the nuclear arms race and make more difficult a strategic arms control agreement with the Soviet Union.

Among the "basic errors" in the Kennedy-sponsored report, Foster cited the following:

—"It greatly overstates the technical and tactical problems of the proposed ballistic missile defense system."

—"It understates the technical and tactical problems of overcoming Safeguard."

—"It misinterprets the estimates by the intelligence community."

—"It presents assertions and assumptions with the force of fact."

—"It offer incompetent, dangerous and inadequate alternatives to Safeguard."

Nordquist, NU Trio Honored

State-federal agricultural statistician Arnold V. Nordquist of Lincoln and three University of Nebraska students were honored by the NU Agricultural Economics Club at its annual banquet Tuesday night.

Nordquist, who has served the United States Department of Agriculture as an economist since 1933, was honored for "his support in the area of agriculture and research in agricultural economics."

20-Year-Old Drowns After Boat Accident

Crete (UPI) — Ronald J. Wolowicz, 20-year old Doane College student from New Britain, Conn., drowned Monday evening following a boating accident.

Sheriff John Sveha said Wolowicz and another student were boating on a lake on the Henry Seidhoff farm near here when the boat capsized and the youths were thrown into the water. Wolowicz' companion was identified by Doane College as William Huey of Watertown, N.Y. Huey made it safely to shore.

The Seidhoff farm is located a mile and a half west and a mile and three-quarters north of Crete.

Wolowicz was a member of the Doane College football squad.

No Settlement Seen In Strike

Grand Island (AP) — Union and company officials agreed Tuesday no settlement is in sight in a strike which has kept 21 women off the job at Color-Craft Plastics in Grand Island since March 21.

Don Starmer, business representative of Local 492 of the International Chemicals Workers Union, said the stumbling block was a "substandard" wage offer by the company.

Arthur Grimes, a company official, said the plant has continued in full production. The firm manufactures plastic eating utensils under a government contract.

The contract expired March 15 and the last negotiating session was held April 28.

The State Patrol said it was investigating a weekend incident in which sugar was poured into the fuel tanks of autos owned by four employees hired since the strike began.

Nordquist played a major part in developing the surveying and estimation methods for the quarterly cattle-on-feed statistics, quarterly pig crop reports and non-federally inspected commercial slaughter statistics.

He participated in joint projects with members of the NU College of Agriculture and Home Economics staff, including statistical projects and reports dealing with irrigation, custom rates for farm work, varieties of crops grown, methods of producing and marketing livestock and other special projects of importance to Nebraska agriculture.

John Trierweiler of Lincoln received the outstanding agricultural economics graduate student of the year award and Larry Christensen, a senior from Ord, the outstanding undergraduate award. Both awards were presented by the Nebraska Agribusiness Club.

Trierweiler received his BS and MS degrees at South Dakota State University and is scheduled to graduate from NU May 31 with his Ph.D. He held a graduate assistantship for research while at the university. Christensen has posted a 3.3 average as an outstanding scholar in agricultural economics.

Mario Valderrama of Colombia, South America, received the graduate achievement award, given for the best progress by a candidate for the master's degree.

Banquet speaker was Dr. Wallace Peterson, NU Economics Department chairman.

Child, 2, Killed In Swing Fall

Omaha — Funeral services were held here Monday for Kelly David Wilson, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Wilson of Omaha, who died in a hospital Sunday of injuries he suffered in a fall from a swing Thursday.

His father said the child suffered a massive cerebral hemorrhage in the fall.

The Wilsons moved here a month ago when Mrs. Wilson and three children came from New Jersey to join Wilson, who is a student at the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

In addition to his parents, the child is survived by two sisters, Karen and Kimberly.

Jeffrey Selected New President Of State Bankers

Omaha (AP) — The Nebraska Bankers Association named Adon Jeffrey of Wayne to succeed Henry Gramann of Adams as president.

Also elected at the organization's 72nd annual convention were H. L. McKibbin, Gering, vice president; and Fred H. Douglas, Omaha, treasurer. Jeffrey, president of the First National Bank of Wayne, is a past president of Group Three of the bankers association and served twice on the group's Agricultural Committee, once as chairman.

He and McKibbin, executive vice president of the Bank of Gering, will serve one-year terms. Douglas will serve for three years.

Pollock Named Trustee In Neligh Bankruptcy Case

Omaha (AP) — Retired Norfolk District Judge Fay Pollock was appointed trustee Tuesday in a U.S. District Court case involving the bankruptcy of North American Buildings, Inc., a Neligh mobile home manufacturer.

U.S. Bankruptcy Referee Jerrold Strasheim appointed Pollock, who retired in December, to liquidate and distribute assets of the mobile home company to creditors.

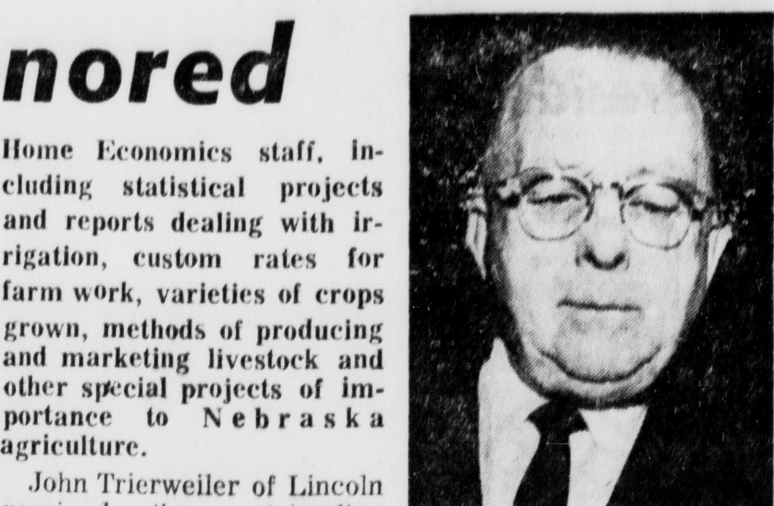

North American began business in March, 1968, and began having trouble paying its bills about November, said Oscar Curtis, president and major stockholder of the company. North American was determined bankrupt March 25.

Southeast Lincoln Windows Broken In Early Morning

A series of incidents involving the breaking of windows occurred in southeast Lincoln early Tuesday morning, according to police.

Unidentified vandals reportedly broke the windows of five parked cars on Sewell between 35th and 39th and on So. 39th between Sewell and Van Dorn. Total damage was estimated at $275.

Vandals also struck a Dairy Queen shop at 4231 So. 33rd, smashing two plate glass windows valued at $175.

and four new storm sewers are to be built in high priority areas. They will cost $1 million.

James Mallon, city finance director, said a multiple-purpose bond issue would be used to cover all four items.

City officials had asserted during the campaign that the capital improvements are critical needs. They said the improvements would have to have been financed from general tax funds over the next several years if voters rejected the bond issues.

Proponents of the charter amendment had argued that the salary restriction should be lifted so that the city could hire department chiefs at competitive salaries without being forced to raise the mayor's salary.

But opponents countered that the city could pay higher salaries for department heads

Hale said his objection to the wheel tax is that "many people who use the streets have their cars registered outside the city."

"I know of no better way than through the gas tax to get all people to pay," he said.

Policeman Raps Job Corps Files

Washington (AP) — Information in confidential files held by the Nixon administration which describes rapes, homosexuality and sex abuse at Job Corps centers was disputed Tuesday.

Capt. Harry Untereiner, chief of the National Police Conference on Athletic and Youth Activity, said not one incident of the nature described in the report has been found among trainees at the Job Corps Police Training School at Camp Kilmer, N.J.

'Do I Use It Like A Billy-Club, Mr. President?'

'They Have Suffered Enough . . .'

The ordeal of the Pueblo crew is officially over now with the decision of Navy Secretary Chafee that no disciplinary action will be taken against any of the personnel involved. Most Americans will join Commander Lloyd Bucher and his men in relief that further recriminations are not in the offing.

Secretary Chafee wisely and humanely overruled the Navy's court of inquiry recommendation that Bucher be tried by general court martial for five alleged offenses involved in surrendering the intelligence ship to North Korean gunboats, that the ship's research chief be court martialed for alleged dereliction of duty and the executive officer be given a letter of admonition.

The Navy secretary noted that the U.S. Pacific area commander and the chief of naval operations declined to accept the court's recommendations.

"I am convinced," Chafee said, "that neither individual discipline nor the state of discipline or morale in the Navy nor any other interest requires further legal proceedings with respect to any personnel involved in the Pueblo incident . . . they have suffered enough, and further punishment would not be justified."

Chafee said in making his decision against further action that he made no judgment regarding the guilt or innocence of any of the officers of the offenses alleged against them. Unfortunately, Bucher and his chief assistants will probably continue to be judged, perhaps unfairly, for the remainder of their naval careers.

The unhappy incident should teach the Navy a lesson in the areas of preparing for the destruction of classified materials and supporting and protecting intelligence missions. It would certainly do nothing for the image and dignity of the Navy to punish men for using as much common sense as possible under impossible conditions.

Old LG Coming Down

Assuming the planned demolition of the old Lincoln General Hospital is consummated, it will be an action that will long haunt public bodies. This is unfortunate because the case for tearing down the old structure is a formidable one.

It is possible that the former hospital building could be used as a nursing home but only by way of an expediency. The fact is that the new Lincoln General was built because the old hospital was inadequate. Thus, it is an error in logic to reason that, having served so well as a hospital, the building could now surely serve as a nursing home.

To better understand that, people should know that the modern nursing home is simply a modern hospital without the supporting facilities of an operating suite, radiology department, laboratory, etc. The modern nursing home must meet rigid construction standards, safety codes and specific criteria for that kind of operation.

The old hospital could be converted and made to meet nursing home standards but not without a substantial investment. And after the investment was made, it would still be a facility of some antiquity. As nursing home standards were strengthened through the years, as they surely will be, the old hospital would find it harder and harder to comply.

We know that the old building looks like an inviting answer to the shortage of nursing home beds but there is not a source that has studied the matter that has recommended such a use. The nursing home problem needs and deserves a better answer than the old hospital structure could provide.

Oil Tax Loophole Sidestepped By President; Producers Anxious To Retain Depletion Rate

WASHINGTON — It is no secret that the most gaping tax loophole, through which billions escape annually, is the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance. It is a secret as to why President Nixon plans to do nothing about it.

During the presidential campaign, he had promised a group of Houston oilmen that he would protect the 27½ per cent depletion allowance. He also gave his word to a law client, oil millionaire John Shaheen, that oil depletion would always be sacrosanct with him. In appreciation, the oil tycoons contributed heavily to the GOP cause.

As president, Nixon has broken his pledge to all the taxpayers that he would drop the 10 per cent tax surcharge. But he has faithfully kept his campaign pledge to the oilmen not to tamper with the oil depletion allowance.

Originally, Nixon had planned to submit limited tax reforms this spring, then follow up later in the year with a more comprehensive program. However, his chief tax reformer, Assistant Treasury Secretary Edwin Cohen, said he could put together a comprehensive reform package in a few days. The basic research had already been done by the Johnson administration.

Nixon agreed. However, he laid down one inflexible guideline: that there be no change in the oil depletion allowance.

The President explained to his aides that the depletion allowance was necessary to encourage investors to risk the high cost of drilling for oil. On this point, he said, his mind was made up.

It took Cohen four weeks to prepare the tax reforms, complete with all the elaborate justification, which the President submitted to Congress. There was no mention, of course, of oil reforms.

However, House Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, who will handle the tax reform legislation, is more sensitive to public opinion. He cautioned oilmen privately to acquiesce to the public mood and accept a symbolic cut in the 27½ per cent depletion rate. He suggested a reduction to, say 23½ or 22½ per cent.

The 27½ per cent figure has taken on almost religious significance to oilmen, and hitherto Mills had treated it as holy writ. Oilmen had felt they could count on Mills' allegiance. In the past, he had always comforted himself as if he had been baptized in oil.

So when word of this heresy reached the oil overlords, the petroleum institute's Frank Ikard hurried to Capitol Hill to set Mills straight. Ikard used to be a Texas congressman who helped Mills write tax legislation before the oil industry hired him as its $100,000-a-year chief lobbyist.

For two hours, Ikard lectured his old colleague from Arkansas on the inviolability of the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance. Sternly the oil lobbyist warned that the tax exemption couldn't even be whittled down half of one per cent without injuring the industry. Mills listened, but was not converted.

As a result, the oil boys are mounting an intensive lobbying campaign on Capitol Hill. Word has gone out to the oil producers to contact their friends in Congress and remind them where their biggest cam-

From Anarchy To Repression?

LOUISVILLE — The political reaction to the campus disorders is now running very strong. The threat of anarchy is now producing the threat of repression, and politicians all over the country are trying to put the university wreckers up against the wall.

The wild wing of the Students for a Democratic Society has done a remarkable thing. It has weakened the anti-Vietnam enemies. It has mobilized the squares, stirred up the federal and state legislators, weakened the anti-Vietnam war movement, divided the left and pushed the country to the right.

This is quite an achievement. No other combination of political and moral forces in this country, from J. Edgar Hoover to Billy Graham, could possibly have aroused such a powerful coalition against the extreme left, or made opposition to the demands of the white and black extremists so respectable.

In many ways it is a sad story, for in the end it could easily mean more political interference and control of the universities, more opposition even to legitimate dissent, reduced state and federal funds for higher education, more separation and hostility between the races and more trouble for the idealistic students who want fundamental but non-violent changes in American society.

The dangers of over-reaction now are plain. The challenge of the young was not a bad but a good thing. They were questioning our materialism and hypocrisy, our policies and priorities in Vietnam and the cities, and the structure of many of our universities.

But the S.D.S. extremists who started by demanding "free speech" at Berkeley are now denying it to others. They want the right of dissent for the protesters but no right of dissent for their opponents. They have gone well beyond Gandhi's or Thoreau's concept of civil disobedience. Gandhi and Thoreau were prepared to take their punishment for breaking the law, but not the young extremists of today.

They seize and destroy private property, shut down classes, interfere with scholarly research, and then demand amnesty and submission to their "non-negotiable demands." They want "due process" for themselves but not for their opponents.

It is not easy to shake the indifference of the quiet majority in the U.S., but the militants have achieved it. They forgot that students are not the only people who are troubled by the complexities, contradictions and inequalities of American life. The middle-aged and the middle-class — caught between their rebellious kids and their aging parents, and between inflation and taxation — are really the ones in the middle. And the sight of guns on campuses and kids sneaking out of occupied buildings with covered faces plus all these endless demands and headlines about the student rebellion have finally produced great pressure on the politicians from the middle-class to get this movement under control.

The politicians are delighted to respond. They have always enjoyed moralizing about the wickedness of the young and the permissiveness of the universities. President Nixon has had his say and J. Edgar Hoover will be reciting on the radicals within the next few days.

Also, various congressional committees are planning investigations under such pillars of philosophical mediation as Sen. John McClellan of Arkansas and James Eastland of Mississippi — not to mention that other old friend of the S. D. S. — the former House Un-American Activities Committee.

None of this is surprising, however. It is following the usual political scenario of violent action and extreme reaction. The odd thing is that the young militants who claim to know so much about human psychology and political tactics provoked such a predictable reaction. It is said they welcome the repression for this will bring the moderates over to their cause. That at least is the theory, but that is not what is happening now: the militants are not getting stronger, but weaker, and the only thing that can really help them now is another angry lurch to the right.

Men Of Letters In The Political Field

WASHINGTON — The idea of a literate man holding public office is so outrageous these days that when one announces he would like to try, everybody suspects him of joking.

Thus, Norman Mailer's candidacy for mayor of New York produces no cheers from the press, but only speculation whether he can possibly be serious. And from this we are invited to draw the conclusion that if he is, then he must surely be a fool.

William F. Buckley Jr., another man of letters, faced the same handicap in his mayoralty campaign four years ago. Adlai Stevenson's ability to compose a literate paragraph without can't may not have cost him the presidency, but it gave many a voter an easy excuse to justify his emotional preference for General Eisenhower.

Mailer's candidacy should be an occasion for cheers instead of jokes. As long as politics can still attract a man of artistic sensibility, there is still hope. Jefferson, Madison, Hamilton, Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt were all highly literate men as well as capable politicians. Why do we automatically assume nowadays that a candidate who can write his own speeches must be playing games with the voters?

The fact is that Mailer has already produced one of the few original and exciting ideas for dealing with what is tediously called the urban problem. He proposes to make New York City the 51st state.

Amusing? Not at all. The big cities everywhere are stepchildren of state legislatures, which are usually run by alfalfa growers with a vested interest in detouring the federal gravy into cow country.

By freeing the 15 or 20 biggest cities from the tyranny of the backwoods and giving them the prerogatives of states, millions of city dwellers would finally have the same political leverage in Washington now accorded to sheepherders in Nevada and oil lords in Oklahoma.

With the population headed for 400 million, the old state boundaries make less and less sense, anyhow. Even at present population levels, it is hard to see what Chicago has in common with Little Egypt, Los Angeles with Eureka, or Atlanta with Tobacco Road.

MAILER HAS A GOOD IDEA. Or an idea, at least. This is more than can be said about any of the other candidates for mayor so far. (It should be noted that from Mailer's viewpoint, it is a particularly good idea. If elected, he will be Mayor Mailer. This is not quite so bad as being Major Major, but it is still the kind of handicap that needlers find easy to exploit.

Governor Mailer, on the other hand, sounds just right.

Having ideas is the work habit of the literate man. It is essential to his calling. Without ideas, he can command no audience. He is not like the lawyer, who can sway masses with pure sound; nor like the businessman, who can move them with money; nor like the electronic-age politician, who can charm them with teeth and a hair-styling.

Our modern politics is often accused of intellectual shabbiness. If true, this is not hard to explain. It is a politics of lawyers, businessmen and entertainers, based on the power of sound, money teeth and hair-styles.

The man whose habit is having ideas has been rare in the business for too long. The occasional literate man pressed into politics as ghost writer commonly finds that he must break his natural habit of having ideas and acquire the new one of writing about ideas. His employer does not want a speech with ideas, which might start somebody to thinking, but a speech without ideas, which will keep the audience anesthetized while sound, money and good dentistry do their dependable work.

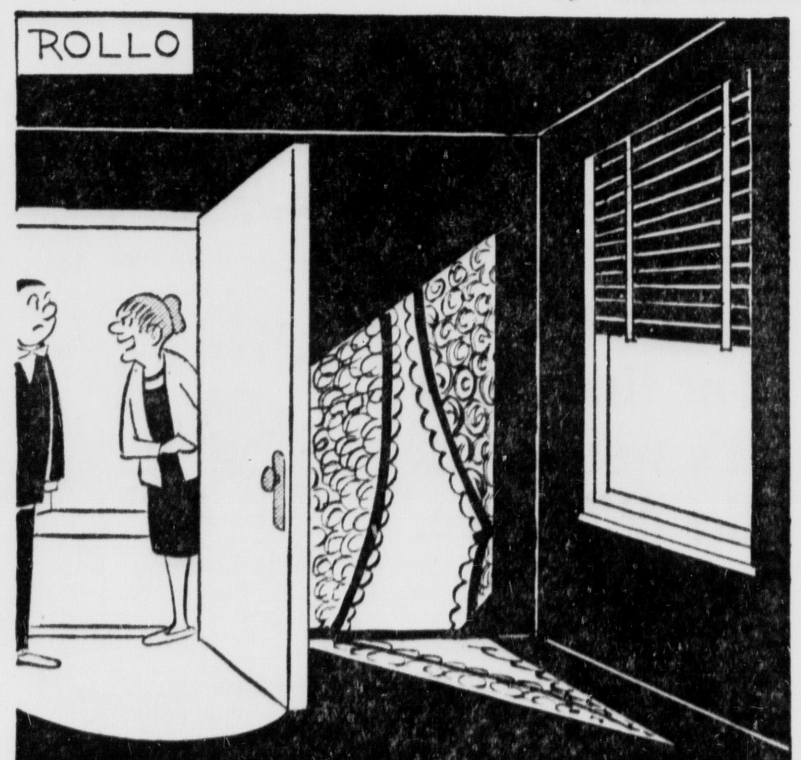

Mailer should not be joked about, but praised. With respectful treatment, his candidacy may encourage other literate men to take up politics. After Governor Mailer of the state of New York City, we might go on to Governor Buckley of the state of Upstate New York.

This might encourage John Hersey to become governor of suburban Connecticut, which might encourage Ogdan Nash to become governor of Baltimore, which might even persuade S. J. Perelman to become senator from Pennsylvania. There is no telling where it might end, but it would be an improvement on sound, money and teeth.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It was not a day of unanimity for the City Council last Monday. Councilman John Comstock figured in three of the items that produced some friction.

He was with Councilman Bill Davidson in advocating a change in zoning from residential to local business at the southwest corner of 70th and O. A developer would like to erect in that area a doctors' office building, motel and perhaps other structures for what is termed a medical complex.

Davidson and Comstock were alone in their support of the change. It is in this entire area of East O that much of the dispute over zoning centers and where the city has managed only partially to hold the line.

We have no great issue with Davidson and Comstock simply because their point of view does have a certain validity. As the prospective developer of the area has said, it could be a hundred years before the land in question ever was used for residential purposes.

It is difficult to escape the conclusion that this land will some day be zoned for business use, along with similarly situated land directly across the street from it on which the Lincoln Pontiac dealer would like to establish a new retail outlet.

There is currently business use of the large tract known as Gateway and business use of the southeast corner of 70th and O. Further, both O and 70th are arterials. Finally, the new St. Elizabeth Hospital will be adjacent to the southwest corner of 70th and O.

When you add it all up, you envision business use of the area far more than you see residential use. Residential use is not impossible but the land's commercial value and its surroundings will certainly discourage such use.

There are, of course, considerations in the other direction, such as the protection of existing property values and the orderly growth of the city. This means that even though the property may some day be zoned for business, such zoning could be premature at this time.

This points out the fact that zoning is probably the most difficult responsibility the City Council faces. Surely, the subject is one that consumes an immense amount of the council's time. The day may well come when zoning is such a burden that it is assigned a separate status of its own, totally removed from the jurisdiction of the council.

Comstock also opposed adoption of an ordinance establishing a new salary scale for the legal department. He thought it would be wiser to await the outcome of the proposed charter change in the mayor's salary.

While the charter change does not affect passage of the ordinance, it would affect its implementation. The salary ordinance includes a top pay range of $21,960 a year. This could not be used unless the charter is changed or unless the salary of the mayor were advanced beyond that point from its present $17,325.

The starting salary figure in the legal department is $9,400 a year. Conflicts with the charter aside, the new scale will be pushing the City Council to a more generous consideration of pay through the ranks of all employees.

In still another matter, Comstock spoke of the slow pace of development of the mall on 15th St. Here, we find ourselves in total agreement with the councilman.

Things such as the indefinite nature of the proposed tunnel under 15th to the new state office building from the Statehouse and the current construction strike have hindered mall progress but neither the city nor the contractor has seemed too much concerned with that project. The south end of the mall remains an eyesore rather than a place of beauty.

If there is anything slower than the mall, it is painting traffic lanes on the streets. We wish some councilman would get equally disturbed about that.

VIRGINIA PAYETTE

Textbooks Today Boring, Outdated, Unchallenging

NEW YORK — Do you suppose a good chunk of our school kids are surly because textbooks we shove their way — and teachers we hire to go with 'em — are depressing and dull?

There are many who think so. There are even those who are beginning to say so. Out loud, that is.

What successful people seem to be saying is that our kids are trudging home with armloads of schoolbooks that aren't telling it like it is. Their science texts, for instance, may not mention transplants or the cracking of the genetic code. Their book in government may not have a line on the civil rights upheaval, or the campus upheaval, for that matter.

These texts can be impressively heavy. They look authoritative to a parental eye. Johnny's eye is something else. Many of the books are not doing the job of getting the kids interested enough to learn anything.

There are many reasons for this. Maybe the most important is that school boards tend to buy books the way they build classrooms and buy furniture — to last. So, many textbooks could be at least five years old — and hopelessly out-of-date.

The way they're written leaves a lot to be desired, too. Publishers naturally want their books to be acceptable from New York to Georgia to California. You think they're going to tackle any "sensitive" issues head-on?

Textbooks, of course, should be read as critically as any other books, but what is so deadly is that many of our schoolbooks today offer nothing to challenge — except their lack of anything to challenge.

And that goes for those "Run, Jane, run. See Jane run." deals in first grade. We start boring our children early. As one elementary principal told me 15 years ago: "Five-year-olds come to us just tingling to learn; they bounce with curiosity. It takes us about three years to kill it all."

However, there are signs, small as the first crocus of spring, of a textbook revolution just down the hall.

In New York City, for instance, Dick and Jane are still running, but they're running into new friends called Jose and Carmen. And many of the moppets in the early readers have dark complexions and play stickball in ghetto streets instead of on green lawns behind white picket fences.

Things are looking up in the high schools, too. When a class is obviously stuck with an old text, some teachers are stepping up their use of newspapers, films and paperbacks to bring the kids up to date.

And you and these good teachers can take heart from news that teachers themselves are coming in for critical looks.

POSTCARD by Stan Dodeland

Summery weather around here. Taking stock of my flocks and herds, I find all is well.

The kittens are two weeks old. Have blue eyes as I predicted. "How did you know?" asked the Brownie. "Your father is a genius," I said.

The mother's Manx. But the father—well, he was something else. Two kittens have bob tails. One has half a tail. The other has a long tail.

A TIP FROM Lady Globe

FREE BABY ORCHIDS FOR ALL WOMEN with cleaning orders

Globe QUALITY CLEANERS

The mother Manx is an amateur. There is no Dr. Spock to guide a mother cat. No expectancy course — she doesn't know what to expect, and I imagine was mightily surprised.

She works by instinct. "What do I do now?" she seems to be thinking. "Let's see. If I take it by the neck here. And carry it round—"

I put the kittens on the rug. "They should have some exercise," I said. "They're trying to walk." (A lot of Dr. Spock in me.)

This shook up the mother cat no end. She took a kitten by the neck and put it back in the box. That seemed to satisfy her. She left the other kittens on the rug.

The kittens on the rug squealed. The sound bothered the Manx. She got out and licked them. She picked one up and dropped it. The kitten in the box yelled bloody murder.

She got back in the box. Instinct needed oiling. It didn't seem to occur to her to move all the kittens into the box. I had to do it myself.

The problem with kittens is that you must give them away sometime. Never too early to make plans.

I said to the Brownie: "Wouldn't your little friends like to have a kitten?"

"You can't give them away!" she cried. "What will Captain Bligh do?" (We named the cat before we knew it was a she.)

I said: "The Captain will want to get rid of the kittens when they get bigger. You know. Like your mother says,

"I'll be glad when they go back to school."

I said: "Next time you are in the Brownie Circle, pass the word to come over and look at the kittens."

The Brownies at meetings sit in the Brownie Circle.

Brownies are little muffins about seven years. I have never seen a seven-year-old girl who didn't want to take a kitten home. I figured if I got them on their way, a certain percentage would stick.

If you take a new kitten away from a small girl, she weeps. Many mothers cannot stand this and will keep the kitten.

They don't call me the fox for nothing.

The Brownie's mother is a Brownie Leader. I said, "Maybe I should attend a Brownie meeting. When the kittens are six weeks old."

You cannot trust the Brownie to remember to invite the Brownies over to see the kittens. I want to make sure of that.

She said: "If you just send a kitten home with those children, their mothers will be furious with me."

I said: "Do you want six cats meowing around the house? Well!"

NEW.. "SLEEP + ASPIRIN"

tablets help you Pop right off to Sound, Safe Sleep

WITHOUT NARCOTIC SLEEPING PILLS

New York, N.Y. (Special) ... A New York chemist has perfected a remarkable "Asper-Sleep" formula which unites in one small tablet 3 safe aids to sound, refreshing sleep. No other sleeping tablets offer so much comfort ... yet are not habit-forming!

Never before has there been such a combination to help you solve the problem of sleeplessness—to bring restful natural-like slumber ... without addictive drugs. No prescription is needed—just ask for "Asper-Sleep Tablets". For 100% safe sleep take as directed.

The reason you can fall asleep so fast and sleep like a log is that each Asper-Sleep tablet contains these 3 ingredients:

(1) an anti-histamine which doctors have proved as effective as the usual dose of phenobarbital ... yet Asper-Sleep is mild and safe.

(2) A sedative with gentle tranquilizing aid to invite mental calm.

(3) Last but not least, Asper-Sleep contains analgesic, pain-relieving aspirin. This cures the discomforts of headaches, colds, aches, and other conditions for which aspirin is famous ... including the minor aches and pains of arthritis and rheumatism.

So get your sleep tonight without the depressing after-effects of narcotic drugs. Asper-Sleep contains no habit-forming drugs, no narcotics. You pop off to sleep and wake up "bright-eyed and bushy-tailed", not dull or dozy. During the night you are relaxed, yet responsive to emergencies.

Money back guarantee: Unless Asper-Sleep brings you better, faster, more natural sleep than any sleeping tablet you have ever taken ... return the partly used bottle and get all your money back. Ask for Asper-Sleep at druggists, 89¢.

Penalty For Hampering Fireman Is Passed

By Associated Press
Nebraskans would be well advised henceforth not to "spook" or "bug" or otherwise bother a fireman who is performing his fire fighting duties.

A bill passed in the State Legislature Tuesday makes it a misdemeanor to interfere with a fireman on duty. The

Sens. Carpenter And Pedersen To Be On TV

Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha and Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff will discuss current activities in the Nebraska Legislature on the weekly television feature "Your Unicameral" with host George Round at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Sen. Pedersen represents the 4th District in Douglas County, while Sen. Carpenter is from District 48 in Scotts Bluff County.

penalty: up to one year in jail and/or a fine of up to $1,000.

The measure, LB835, was sponsored principally by Sen. Wayne L. Schreurs of Seward and was passed on a 34-0 vote.

Specifically prohibited by LB835:

- Resisting or interfering with lawful efforts of a fireman doing his job.
- Disobeying lawful orders given by a performing fireman.
- Engaging in disorderly conduct which delays or prevents a fire from being timely extinguished.
- Fetters or preventing others from assisting in extinguishing a fire, or inducing others not to assist.

such fraud as a misdemeanor, but Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's LB516, passed 34-0, makes such fraud a felony if the amount involved exceeds $500.

Both the fireman bill and the welfare payment bill carried the emergency clause and will become law immediately when signed by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann.

Another among bills passed Tuesday was Carpenter's LB1040, directing the State Health Department to license and regulate the retail business of fitting and selling hearing aids.

The list of bills passed (E, emergency clause):

- LB1282 (Carpenter)—Authorizing junior college districts to issue warrants, and to borrow money to meet operating expenses in emergency situations. 35-0.
- LB515 (Carpenter)—Repealing mothers' pension law and deleting a support-from-relatives provision in law related to paupers. 31-0.
- LB335 (Schreurs, Swanson, Wylie)—Making it a crime to interfere with the performance of a fireman on duty. (E) 38-0.
- LB1040 (Carpenter)—Requiring the licensing and regulation by the Department of Health of the retail business of fitting and selling hearing aids. 35-0.
- LB1227 (Carpenter)—Requiring domestic insurers to file certain documents with the director of insurance, and authorizing the insurance director to approve or disapprove them. (E) 36-0.
- LB516 (Carpenter)—Making it a misdemeanor in some cases, felony in others, to obtain public assistance fraudulently. (E) 34-0.
- LB361 (Holmquist, Budd)—Permitting director of insurance to disapprove merger of insurance companies if not in the best interests of stockholders. 34-0.

Bone Recipient Of ADA Grant

James L. Bone, a senior at Northeast High School, has been awarded an American Dental Association scholarship for summer research study at the University of Nebraska College of Dentistry.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Bone of Lincoln (421 Glenhaven Dr.) plans to enroll at the university this fall.

The $300 stipend for the eight-week program is provided by the ADA and is designed to stimulate the interest of graduating high school students in dentistry and dental research.

Senators Move To Assure All Day Meetings

By ROBERT BERG
United Press International

Nebraska's Unicameral, only one week away from holding all day meetings for the first time this session, moved Tuesday to make sure nothing interferes with the afternoon meetings.

Up to this time, the Legislature has been meeting only in the morning as a whole. The afternoons have been devoted to committee hearings on a record stack of bills.

But this week is the last week of committee hearings and the Unicameral will begin meeting as a whole in the afternoon next Tuesday. The lawmakers have been looking forward to this as an indication some of their work is completed and they are closer to adjournment.

The move approved on a 33-0 vote Tuesday by the Unicameral means no more than one committee can meet on any day to consider a bill introduced after the full schedule of committee hearings is closed.

A few more bills are expected to trickle in during the session and since each bill is given a public hearing by a committee, the rule was made to insure enough lawmakers would be present during the afternoon to hold afternoon sessions.

The original proposal was made by Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter. Carpenter proposed that one committee, whose members would be chosen by chance, be assigned to hear all new bills.

After some discussion of the merits of the proposal,

Carpenter said that if there were not volunteers, his government and Military Affairs Committee would be "glad" to hear all the bills.

"I can assure you the bills would be expedited," he said. "We would hear them all and deal with them one way or another."

This brought an immediate protest from Genoa Sen. Herb Nore, who said he opposed naming one committee to hear all bills, "especially if it's Senator Carpenter's committee."

Current Committees
State Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell then suggested having the current 11 committees continue hearing the bills in their area of interest, but having them meet only one at a time.

Carpenter agreed to this and the vote then was taken.

Carpenter taking note of the fact the nerves of some of the lawmakers have been wearing thin as the session progresses and the weather warms, said he doubted there would be much work for the committees.

"After May 15 we will have to get unanimous consent to introduce any bill," he said. "I don't think anybody can do that."

Medical Services Division Proposed

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann sent to the Legislature Tuesday a lengthy new bill establishing a Division of Medical Services in the State Institutions Department.

Among other things, the measure, LB1390, changes the name of the state hospitals to "regional centers."

Sen. Elmer Wallwey of Emerson, who heads the Unicameral's Public Health Committee, delivered the measure for the chief executive.

The new Medical Services Division would be headed by a medical services director and would be in charge of the programs and services of the institutions. The division also would plan, develop, administer and operate mental health and mental retardation clinics, programs and services, and the clinical programs and services carried on by the department.

Junior College District Expansion Advanced

By Associated Press

The Legislature Tuesday gave first round endorsement to ten bills, including an Education Committee-sponsored measure which would allow junior college districts to expand along with the school districts they enclose.

Under the bill, LB1309, the junior college districts would automatically expand with the school districts unless the petitions to add land to the school districts specifically excluded the junior college districts.

The bill was advanced on a 23-0 vote.

None of the ten measures given first-round consideration received any opposition. Only non-controversial bills were discussed.

Merit System

A bill sponsored by Omaha Sen. Eugene Mahoney setting up a merit system for the Division of Safety in the State Department of Labor also won tentative approval.

Mahoney, noting that the bill would only apply to the division's 13 employees, said that the other personnel in the Labor Department are covered by a federal merit system since part of their wages comes from federal sources.

The Division of Safety makes inspections of construction sites and is responsible for investigating construction-related accidents and injuries.

The lawmakers accepted an amendment to Chappell Sen. Ramey Whitney's LB873, which originally would have required the tax commissioner to hire "not less than" three professional assistants to supervise the appraisal and reappraisal of property in the state.

Increased to Six

The amendment, offered by Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter, upped the number to six.

Carpenter said that even six "isn't going to be half enough," now that the Legislature has required an annual equalization of property valuations between counties. Carpenter said that the "only way to get it is to have enough competent assistants working for the tax commissioner."

The bill was advanced on a 26-0 vote.

Also advanced Tuesday were:

- LB768, providing for fees of one-half of one per cent for the county treasurer in collecting money for watershed and watershed conservancy districts. 28-0.
- LB461, technical revision of a section of insurance law. 28-0.
- LB462, decreasing from 20 to 10 the number of days notice must be given of an Insurance Department hearing. 28-0.
- LB813, clarifying method of appeal from Insurance Department ruling to conform with other statutes. 28-0.
- LB145, adopting a Nebraska seed law to set standards for seed retailing and wholesaling in the state. 28-0.
- LB185, deleting a reference to oils and motor fuels in Nebraska tax laws. 30-0.
- LB1035, requiring owner or manager of airport or hangar to report aircraft parked on property to county assessor for tax purposes at beginning of year. 29-0.

Road Fund Distribution Plan Generally Backed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Cities and counties Tuesday generally endorsed proposed legislation establishing weighted factors for distribution of highway user revenue, partially on a matching fund basis.

Box Butte county commissioners, however, expressed their opposition to the matching fund provisions.

Both cities and counties are entitled to receive one-half of their allocated state highway user revenue without matching local dollars. The remaining 50% would be available if matched dollar for dollar by local funds.

LB1312, a legislative highway study committee proposal, would establish a distribution formula for counties, taking into account such factors as population, miles of road, bridges, motor vehicle registrations and the value of farm products produced in a county.

LB1314, also a committee bill, establishes the distribution formula for cities, weighted to the factors of population, miles of street and vehicle registrations.

The measures, chiefly sponsored by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, were heard by the Revenue Committee and held for further consideration.

Both bills provide for incentive payments to counties with licensed highway superintendents and to cities with licensed street superintendents.

Incentive payments would be distributed on the basis of population, ranging from $3,000 to $4,250 for counties, and from $300 to $4,250 for cities.

The bills provide that unused matching funds would be made available to other counties if unmatched by a county, and to other cities if unmatched by a city.

Arnold Ruhnke, speaking for the Association of County Officials, proposed amendments that would make unused county funds available first to communities within that county, and offer unused city funds first to the county in which the community was located.

Kenneth Bowen, representing the League of Nebraska Municipalities, endorsed the Ruhnke proposals.

Box Butte County Attorney Laurie Margheim said the matching fund provision would "hurt us badly" since his county now raises no local road funds through property tax levies.

The county is at its 14.28-mill constitutional limit, Margheim said.

Warner said cities and counties should make "some local funding effort" if they are to receive their full share of state highway user revenue.

Support for the bills came from the Better Nebraska Association, the Lincoln, Omaha and Beatrice Chambers of Commerce, the City of Lincoln, and the Nebraska Consulting Engineers Association.

Solons Agree To Introduction Of Salary Approval Bill

Nebraska's Legislature, tangled in procedural difficulties, agreed Tuesday to allow the introduction of a bill to require Unicameral approval of all state government salaries over $18,000 a year.

The bill, which will be introduced later by State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, originally was proposed as an amendment to another bill to remove the ceiling from the state health director's salary.

But Unicameral President Lt. Gov. John E. Everroad ruled the amendment could not be placed on the measure because it did not deal with the same subject as the health director salary bill.

The bill dealing with the health director's salary had been passed several weeks ago but was recalled the next day when an angry Unicameral learned the State Health Board had hired an acting director for $30,000 a year after the bill had been passed and before the governor had signed it into law.

Carpenter, who had sponsored the bill to remove the ceiling from the health director's salary, then proposed it be amended to require legislative approval of state employee salaries "to see if the Legislature is really serious about doing something about this matter."

Several Solons To Participate In Demo Seminar

A number of state senators, including Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, will participate in a Democratic legislative seminar in Lincoln Saturday.

The meeting, scheduled for 9:30 a.m. in the Georgian Room of the Cornhusker Hotel, is being held in conjunction with Democratic Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner activities.

Burbach, chairman of the Legislature's Revenue Committee, will address the meeting. Individual senators will then meet with small study groups considering various legislative issues.

The study group will present their conclusions to the platform committee of the 1970 Democratic state convention.

Major Revision In Food Aid Programs Proposed

Washington (AP) — President Nixon, terming hunger in America "embarrassing and intolerable," proposed Tuesday major revision of food aid programs so that, in another 13 months, they would be costing $2.5 billion a year.

Sending Congress a special message with little advance notice, Nixon asked for new laws that would provide all poor families with enough food stamps to buy a nutritionally balanced diet — at no cost to themselves if they fell into the very lowest income brackets.

Under the Nixon plan, no recipients of food stamps would pay more than 30% of their income for them. Officials estimated some now spend over half their income on food.

Additionally, Nixon said, the government will extend the food stamp program to 440 counties not now sharing in it. He said these counties would be covered before July, 1970, and administration sources estimate that these sections of the country without family food assistance account for 14 of the nation's population.

Revision of the food stamp program would cost more than $1 billion over a full year, Nixon said.

"This will be in addition to the $1.5 billion for food for the hungry which I have requested for the forthcoming fiscal year, making a total program of $2.5 billion," he said.

Because of the need for legislation and administrative preparations, Agriculture Department officials said, the revised program probably would not become fully effective until the spring of 1970.

Nixon said $270 million in the budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 is being shifted into food programs to accelerate progress toward making his food stamp plan operational.

Daniel P. Moynihan, Nixon's special assistant for urban affairs, said he was not certain which activities would be curtailed to produce the $270 million.

The President, in his message, also announced he was asking the Urban Affairs Council to consider establishment of a new agency, the Food and Nutrition Service, "whose exclusive concern will be the administration of the federal food programs."

Noting that such programs now are operated in conjunction with numerous unrelated departmental activities, he said a specialized agency could concentrate on effective administration.

The President revealed plans for pilot programs in the coming year under which needy pregnant women and mothers of infants would receive vouchers that they could redeem at food and drug stores for infant formulas and other highly nutritious special foods.

Robert Gordon, Owner Of Royal Jewelers, Dies

Robert (Merle) Gordon, 66, owner of the Royal Jewelers, died Tuesday. Services will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at Hodgman-Splain-Roberts mortuary.

Mr. Gordon, of 1641 Prospect, Apt. 2, was a member of BPO Elks 80, Masonic Lodge, Lincoln Cooperative Credit Corp., and Tifereth Israel Synagogue. He was president of Lincoln Travelers Protective Association.

Survivors include: his wife, Sarah R.; a son, James E. of Lincoln; daughters, Mrs. Elliott Wiener of Oradell, N.J., Mrs. Wallace Rudolph and Miss Sandra K., both of Lincoln; a brother, Herbert E. of Lincoln; sisters, Mrs. Rebecca Arenson of Omaha, Mrs. Gertrude Davidson, Mrs. Rose Goldberg, Miss Anna, and Mrs. Dorothy Diamond, all of Lincoln; and three grandchildren.

Nebraskans 'Guilty' Of Tourism Failure

Nebraskans were found to be "guilty as charged" of failing to recognize the state's features and in being "lethargic" about promoting the state and its tourist attractions at a kangaroo court here Tuesday.

A six-man jury, however, pronounced the guilty verdict with a plea for leniency for Nebraska citizens.

Sentencing was deferred for one year to give Nebraskans an opportunity to improve their performance in promoting tourism throughout the state.

The four-hour mock trial, a feature of the third annual Discover Nebraskaland's Travel Industry conference, included testimony from some 20 persons.

Speaking about the promotional efforts of the State Game Commission, other agencies and private enterprises were State Tax Commission Director Murrell McNeil, Game Commission Liaison Officer John C. Kurtz, State Engineer Marvin Nuernberger, Economic Development Department Director James Monroe, and others such as cave owners, motel operators, petroleum company and news media representatives.

Earlier, Barc Wade of the Cornhusker Motor Club in Omaha, told some 70 persons involved in public and private tourism activities that it is "good economics" to appeal to the Negro traveler.

The American travel industry, Wade declared, has been ignoring the "untapped resource" of black tourists.

Because of prejudices and "little" slights, Negro travelers have tended to stay away from commercial motels and restaurants. Instead, they stay with friends and relatives "where they feel most at home."

Wade said "we in the travel industry have a big job on our hands to encourage the black traveler to tour America. But first we have to make him feel welcome on the tourist circuit."

Dr. Bruce Ackerman Optometrist Of Year

Dr. Bruce Ackerman of Fairbury Tuesday night was named the Nebraska Optometrist of the Year at the Nebraska Optometric Association annual meeting.

Dr. Ackerman was cited for working with educational service units in developing vision programs and for recently organizing a statewide optometric counseling service.

He was further cited for his activity in a statewide campaign to combat amblyopia among children.

Maj. Roy H. Rengstorff of the Medical Research Laboratories at Edgewood Arsenal, Md., emphasized the importance of periodic re-examination and evaluation of individuals who wear contact lenses.

He said "irreversible damage" can be done if such examination is not made every six months.

The cornea transparency can be affected by such neglect, he said, adding that many people are careless in not removing their lenses at night or periodically to allow oxygen to get to the eye.

He said there is more chance for damage by neglect with people who wear contacts than those who wear regular glasses since failure to remove the lenses gives individuals no opportunity to notice when there is something wrong.

Podgorny To Visit

Moscow (AP) — Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny will visit North Korea in about a week, Tass news agency announced.

Guest Speaker

Guest speaker at the Thursday evening meeting of the Lincoln Legal Secretaries Association will be Lancaster County Judge Ralph W. Slocum.

The meeting will be held at 7 o'clock in the conference room of the Executive Building, and will be followed by installation of new officers.

Mrs. Ronald Hendricks

will be installed as new president, and other officers for the coming year will be Mrs. Frederick Novak, vice president; Mrs. Gene Tlustos, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert L. Mueller, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Raymond D. Thompson, treasurer; Mrs. Ardel Erb, national representative; and Mrs. Dennis Sealey, governor.

Third-Graders Learn About Democracy

The third grade class at Prescott School with Mrs. Gene Budig, left, Gov. Norbert Tiemann, center, and their teacher, Mrs. Patricia Watkins.

The 34 students in Mrs. Patricia Watkins' third grade class at Prescott School talked to Gov. Norbert Tiemann and toured the Capitol on Tuesday as part of their social studies which happens to be democracy at this particular time.

The youngsters filled the Governor's hearing room where Gov. Tiemann talked with them and answered their questions. Those questions which would have done credit to an adult audience, were asked instead by 8 and 9 year olds.

Some of the questions included: "Are you going to stop taxing the food we eat and the clothes we wear? Why do we have daylight savings time? Do you like living in Lincoln? Do you want to see the new libraries built that are being voted on in the city elections? Do you vote in Lincoln?"

"What kinds of jobs do you have to do? How does the Legislature work? Why did you sign a revenue bill the voters had turned down?" And, finally, one inquisitive young lady asked if he would run for re-election.

As the questioning session finished, one slender arm waved in the air until Gov. Tiemann recognized the young man. "May I have your autograph?" he asked. When Gov. Tiemann consented, 34 youngsters crowded to the front of the room for his signature.

While discussing the democracy unit they were studying, one of the boys mentioned that they had studied local, state and federal government but the only reason he could figure out that they were studying democracy was "to make us smart, I guess."

A future political analyst in the group mentioned that Charles De Gaulle quit as president of France because the French people "wouldn't do what he wanted them to do."

Talking with Gov. Tiemann was the best part of their outing for most of the students, but others said they liked seeing the Supreme Court or touring the capitol and learning how big the building stones are and how much they cost.

MISS KATHLEEN SULLIVAN

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sullivan of Plort Alleghany, Pa., of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Kathleen Lynn, to Ronald G. Harris, son of the Rev. and Mrs. K. Edgar Harris of Lincoln.

A June wedding is planned.

Miss Sullivan was graduated in January from St. Bonaventure College, St. Bonaventure, N.Y., where she majored in mathematics. She now is attending Graduate School at the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Harris, also a mathematics major, will be graduated from the University of Nebraska in late May.

Study Units

Anyone who is interested is welcome to attend the study unit meetings of the League of Women Voters, Thursday, when the members will discuss the electoral college.

The units will meet at 9:30 o'clock in the morning at the following homes: Prescott unit, Mrs. Walton Ferris, 2485 Woodcrest; Southeast, Mrs. J. L. Caplan, 2201 Calvert; Eastridge, Mrs. Irvin Laddin, 960 So. Cotner; Northeast, Mrs. Philip Cole, 3900 Dudley; Randolph, Mrs. Ralph Steckmet, 4519 Hill Dr.; and Wedgewood, Mrs. John Prash, 611 Hazelwood.

The evening unit will meet at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Richard Hammer, 5000 No. 7th.

League Program

Mrs. Hal Bauer will be hostess for the meeting of the Nebraska Legislative Ladies League, to be held at 2 o'clock, Thursday afternoon, at Miller and Paine.

The program, "Design For Dining", will be presented by Mrs. Julius Humann.

Morning Ceremony

The altar of St. Hilda's Church, Episcopal, at Kimball was appointed with white blossoms for the marriage of Miss Nancy Elaine Henrickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Henrickson of Kimball, to Peter W. Salter, son of Dr. and Mrs. George B. Salter of Norfolk, on Saturday, May 3. The Rev. Terence E. Keefe read the lines of the 10 o'clock service.

Wearing slim, floor-length frocks of pale blue cotton and carrying nosegays of spring flowers in pastel tints were Mrs. Joseph Zimmerman of Norfolk, the matron of honor, and the maid of honor, Miss Kathy Henrickson of Kimball.

John B. Salter of Norfolk, served as best man, and seating the guests were John M. Kinnear of Walnut, Calif., and Dean A. Henrickson, Leadville, Colo. Allan C. Hudson of Glendale, Calif., was the groomsmen.

Sheer dotted voile over taffeta in traditional white fashioned the bride's slender gown. Re-embroidered Venise lace in a floral motif detailed the Empire waist and trimmed the brief sleeves of the bodice, and the lace applique was repeated at the hem of the skirt, which was completed by a detachable, aisle-wide train. A coiffure brim and bow of lace and silk held her illusion veil.

Mr. and Mrs. Salter will make their home in Marina del Rey, Calif. He is a graduate of the University of Arizona and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. Mrs. Salter received her degree from the University of Nebraska.

Suburbia Is On The Go

Last weekend was truly a taste of summer, and what a lovely taste it was! Everyone had outdoor activities on their weekend schedule, or, if none were planned, one could quickly change his mind and invent some.

As usual suburban residents are well ahead of the season, and have started the summer traveling or at least plans for vacations. In fact, all the news we have to share today involves trips — to Iowa, Missouri, and Colorado. Since we have so much area to cover, we shall begin the travels right now and not waste precious time.

MISS VICTORIA YULE

Lincoln will have much more than casual interest this morning in the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Yule of Hastings, of the engagement of their daughter, Victoria, to Eric Spencer York, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Earl York of Fremont.

The wedding will take place on Sunday, Aug. 31, and the ceremony will be solemnized at St. Mark's Pro-Cathedral in Hastings.

Miss Yule, granddaughter of Mrs. Seneca B. Yule of Lincoln, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Victor Krause, is a student at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Mr. York also is attending the University of Nebraska and his fraternity is Phi Kappa Psi.

Saturday and Sunday, May 10 and 11, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bodfield and children — David, 8, Debbie, 5 and Donna, 3, will be in Exira, Iowa, where they will be guests of Mrs. Bodfield's grandmother, Mrs. Dora Johnson. We can't think of a more enjoyable way for Mrs. Johnson to spend Mother's Day on May 11, than with her three great-grandchildren. The Eastborough residents hope to have Mrs. Johnson accompany them to Lincoln and be their house guest for several weeks.

Southbrook Summit residents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bennett and daughter, Nancy, spent last weekend in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, as house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Hanning. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett and Nancy left Friday evening, May 2, and returned Sunday, May 4, after a pleasant visit.

Missouri was a popular state for suburban residents to visit last weekend. We know of two families — one in Maple Village and the other in Southbrook Summit — who recently spent several days visiting there.

We will begin by mentioning that Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Smith and their four-year-old daughter, Rhonda, left their Southbrook Summit residence Wednesday, April 30, for Potosi, Mo., to visit Mrs. Smith's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Marland Keithley. Before their return to Lincoln on Sunday, May 4, they also did some sight-seeing in St. Louis, Mo., and attended a St. Louis Cardinals game.

Their son, one-year-old Ronnie, wasn't slighted while the rest of his family was gone. He went to Auburn where both his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sursey Smith, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Keithley reside and where Ronnie was given special-guest status in both homes.

AROUND TOWN

Boredom is an unknown commodity in Lincoln. That's because there always is something new in the news — sometimes guests, and sometimes fun activity — and just enough of this and that to keep monotony a long way from everyone's door.

The other day we mentioned guests who were arriving from Copenhagen, and this morning we have news of more guests who are coming from only as far away as Urbana, Ill., but who will be on their way to Africa after a visit in Lincoln.

The visitors we have in mind are Mr. and Mrs. John Cole (Nancy Cowles) who will be arriving in Lincoln on June 7. Following a visit with Mrs. Cole's mother, Mrs. Willard B. Cowles, and Mr. Cole's mother, Mrs. Frances Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Cole will be on their way to Tanzania, Africa where Mr. Cole will be a member of an archeology expedition from the University of Illinois.

Mrs. Cole plans to keep herself busy during the stay in Africa, and included in her plans is a trip to Zambia (Africa) for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dow. Mr. Dow, of course is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Dow of Lincoln — and Mrs. Dow is the former Ann Ivaldy — granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Deweese, also of Lincoln.

If you should see Mr. and Mrs. Selmer Solheim and have the feeling their pride is showing we'll let you in on the reason. Mr. and Mrs. Solheim have just received an invitation to attend the Honors Convocation at Arizona State University in Tempe on May 9. This is the third such invitation for Mr. and Mrs. Solheim whose son, Bob — a physics major at Arizona State — has been in the upper 10 per cent of the student body during each of his three years at the university.

Mr. and Mrs. Solheim will not be attending the convocations since they have just returned from Tempe where they visited their son.

Breakfast

The annual May Day breakfast of the Lincoln Republican Women's Club will be held at 9:45 o'clock, Friday morning, at the First Federal club room, 1235 N.

Members may bring guests for the meeting and program.

Spring Makeover

Josephine Lowman

This is the last day of my SPRING MAKEOVER and my NINE DAY DIET. Those of you who have been following it from the first must feel pretty proud of yourselves by now. It is always surprising what a great difference just a few pounds and a few inches less can make!

If you have lots more than 10 pounds to lose, increase your daily intake to 1200-1400 calories a day. Then periodically repeat Nine Day Diet, perhaps once a month. You can include more carbohydrates and some butter or margarine in the 1200 calorie menus. However, be moderate and keep a careful record of the caloric value of the foods you eat.

Here are the menus for tomorrow. After these you are "on your own."

BREAKFAST

One poached egg
One thin slice whole wheat toast
Black coffee

LUNCHEON

Salad made of shredded lettuce and one medium tomato (Lemon for dressing)
Two tablespoons cottage cheese
One glass skimmed milk
One-half grapefruit

DINNER

Broiled liver
One portion spinach
One portion beets
One glass skimmed milk
One orange

If you would like to lose from five to ten pounds in nine days and failed to clip the daily menus which have been published, or if you want the complete diet in booklet form, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Dinner

Meeting for dinner Wednesday evening at Dietrich's Restaurant, Winthrop Rd. and Ryons, will be the members of the Lincoln Career Women's Club.

Officers will be elected during the meeting, and a talk will be given by Miss Sherry Mueller, a University of Nebraska student who formerly lived in Germany.

ABBY: Mother's Day problems

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Mother's Day will soon be here and I wish you would say something in your column to remind "young marrieds" to remember their mothers-in-law, too. Even if it's only a card or a note. There were so many years when I should have remembered my mother-in-law, but I was too "busy."

This year I will send her a spray of flowers — to the cemetery — bitterly regretting that I failed to send her flowers while she was living. I should have appreciated her more, written her more about her grandchildren, whom she loved so much, and most of all I should have let her know how much I had grown to love her.

I hope others will not make the same mistake I made because next year may be too late. Abby, please use my real initials. I want my father-in-law to know how I feel. Sincerely yours, I.G.M.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I'm wrong, but I always thought that Mother's Day was a day to remember one's OWN mother. I am my husband's sweetheart, companion, partner and lover but, by Jove, I am NOT his mother! I hope that Bill and I never start calling each other "Mother" and "Dad" like some couples we know. And we certainly don't intend to exchange gifts on "Mother's Day" and "Father's Day." Police End Sit-In, Seizure By Purdue Students

By The Associated Press — Purdue University sit-in in one building and arrested 229 students, and a few hours later state troopers drove 300 students from another occupied building. The occupation came after those arrested earlier be dropped.

THE OLD SUNNY BROOK DISTILLERY COMPANY, LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY, 86 PROOF.

The Sunny Brook Guardian-

assures a smooth, mellow Bourbon.

One of Kentucky's most famous characters is the Sunny Brook Guardian. Way back in 1891, he introduced new high standards for making Bourbon. Insisted on using costlier small grains. A very special yeast strain. And then aging in hand-made barrels. He's never changed. And neither has our quality.

It's the most carefully guarded taste in Bourbon.

Purdue President Frederick L. Hovde turned down student demands that charges against those arrested earlier be dropped. State troopers ordered to the Lafayette, Ind., campus by Gov. Edgar D. Whitcomb fired a canister of chemical Mace to clear a doorway and the students filed out. The occupation was carried out by students who marched out of a convocation and headed for the executive building, which houses Hovde's office and was locked. Students lounged in Hovde's reception room, ate candy and sang. At Dartmouth College in Hanover, N.H., about 60 students seized the administration building and college officials fought back with a court order ordering them to leave. The students did not leave immediately. The college obtained the order after the students shoved two deans from the building and nailed the doors shut in a protest over the Reserve Officers Training Corps. In New York, City College reopened to its 20,000 students Tuesday after a two-week occupation of its South Campus by about 200 Negro and Puerto Rican students was ended under court order. They had been demanding enrollment changes in favor of Negroes and Puerto Ricans.

Borman Quits Space Corps

Space Center, Houston (P) — Air Force Col. Frank Borman, commander of man's first flight around the moon, is resigning his job in the astronaut corps to become field director of a National Aeronautics and Space Administration space station task group, a NASA spokesman said Tuesday. Borman, who commanded the December Apollo 8 flight which orbited the moon ten times, has been deputy director for flight crew operations. He assumed this position last January after announcing he would accept no further space flights. His new job puts him in charge of study efforts directed toward establishing long-lived space stations in orbit about the earth, one of the main projects under study by NASA for the post-lunar landing period.

'Nonpartisan Elections Pose Problem For State Demos'

Minneapolis, Minn. (P) — The Nebraska Democratic Party has a unique problem because of the nonpartisan election of many officials, the McGovern Commission was told this week. "We cannot get the party into the grassroots because there's nothing to work for," said William Kranda, 29, of Omaha, a graduate assistant at the University of Nebraska. Kranda was among about two dozen witnesses from Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and the Dakotas who testified at the fourth of 16 hearings the commission is holding around the country. In general, party regulars cautioned against wholesale shakeups in the name of reform while dissident Democrats testified that the party must become more responsive to grass roots sentiment. Kranda said the Nebraska party problem is heightened by the fact that the state legislature and most local officers are elected on a non-partisan basis. Another educator, Hal Bluestein, political science professor at Kearney State College, urged state and local party organizations to be uniform nationwide. "The present maze of confusing, illogical and unfair arrangements" clearly work against broad participation, Bluestein said. The session was the first west of the Mississippi River, where Democrats carried only four of the 24 states in the 1968 presidential election.

Ex-NASA Officer, Former Lincolnite Succumbs At 38

Jerald Kubat, 38, of Falls Church, Va., a former Lincolnite who once served as director of the Apollo Control for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, died Monday. Mr. Kubat, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Miller of 3112 So. 47th, had joined Boeing Aircraft Co. of Seattle, Wash., in April. He graduated from Doane College in Crete in 1952 and received his master's degree from Princeton University. Mr. Kubat worked for Boeing Aircraft Co. upon graduation. He joined NASA in 1964 and had served as a special assistant to the Apollo program director and had been chief of the program planning office. Survivors include his parents; his wife, Mary Katherine; two sons, Mark and Carl; a daughter, Christine; a brother, Robert of Arkansas City, Kan.; and a sister, Mrs. Lois Patterson of Houston, Tex. Services are pending in Washington, D.C.

'69 Junior Miss Is California Girl

Mobile, Ala. (P) — California's diminutive Jackie Bennington, an 18-year-old blonde, captured first place in America's Junior Miss Pageant here Tuesday night. Miss Bennington, who earlier had won the top scholastic achievement award, was selected from 50 contestants representing every state. Second place went to Anita Colombo of St. Louis, Missouri's Junior Miss, the third went to North Dakota's Dee Ann Allen of Minot. Judy Dowling of Seward, Neb., was among the 10 semifinalists.

Youngstown OKs 12-Mill Levy Hike

Youngstown, Ohio (P) — Voters approved a 12-mill additional levy for schools Tuesday, apparently ending a crisis that shut down classes last winter and threatened to close them again next fall. The complete vote showed 27,244 votes for the levy and 20,459 against it. It ended a financial drought for education that had extended over six school levy votes in the past 28 months.

Madison County Reorganization Vote Urged

The State Committee for the Reorganization of School Districts Tuesday asked the Madison County Reorganization Committee to allow the patrons of five Class I districts and the Madison District to vote on a proposal to merge the districts into a new kindergarten through 12th grade district.

The request was made at the urging of a delegation from Madison County, led by attorney George Moyer. He presented petitions bearing 33 names which he said represented patrons from each of the districts.

The Class I districts (elementary only) involved are Nos. 56, 48, 46, 6 and 15. The Madison District is a Class III kindergarten through 12th grade district.

The committee also approved a Washington County petition plan to merge 17 Class I districts with the Class III district at Blair, and to dissolve another Class I district and attach certain parts of it to Blair and the remainder to another Class I.

Another approved petition plan would join 10 Class I districts in Pawnee County to the Class III at Pawnee City.

Given qualified approval was a Red Willow County petition plan to join together into a new kindergarten-12th grade district the Class II districts at Indianola and Red Willow.

The committee's action on 25 presented plans, by county:

Being a T.V. and photographic model has its advantages, it has been said, but when you have to watch your weight it's no fun. When I first started my program at the Spa 60 days ago, I was amazed at the weight I had put on. Thanks to the special personalized program of exercise and food consultation at the Spa I have been able to strengthen the weak muscles in my lower back which has helped my work as a model to be much easier to endure. I have also lost the "extra" pounds and firmed up my figure. It's the greatest.

KC Club Top Expansionists

... TOP PERCENTAGE

New York (AP) — Applying the cold, hard facts of the win and loss ledger, the Kansas City Royals appear to be the best of the four expansion teams after the first month of the season.

Competing exclusively in their own Western Division of the American League for the first four weeks, the Royals managed to stay over .500 with a 13-11 record going into Tuesday's schedule.

Here's the way the four new clubs stand after the first phase of the new schedule, with victories, losses and percentage: Kansas City, 13-11; .542. San Diego, 12-16; .429. Montreal, 9-5; .375. Seattle, 8-15; .348.

Within the confines of this cozy little four club group, the big surprise has to be Coco Laboy, the Montreal third baseman, whose .378 batting average rates fourth best in the league.

Laboy, 28, knocked around the minors for 10 years before the Expos decided he was worth taking from the St. Louis Cardinals' active list at the draft last October. The Expos weren't all that enthusiastic, however. They drafted 30 for $10 million and Laboy was No. 27 on the list.

The Expos also came up with a big surprise in Bill Stoneman, the no-hit pitcher, picked No. 10 after an undistinguished three years in the Chicago Cubs' farm system where he pitched only one complete game.

Averages and won-lost percentages undoubtedly will settle down to a lower level now that the East is meeting the West in the majors for the next few weeks. Under the new division setup, teams play the other teams in their own division 18 times a year and meet each of the six teams in the other division only 12 times.

Using the averages up to Tuesday's games it is possible to draw up a list of the top 10 expansion hitters:

1. Coco Laboy, Montreal, .378.
2. Mack Jones, Montreal, .341.
3. Jerry Adair, Kansas City, .324.
4. Jerry McNertney, Montreal, .317.
5. Mike Hegan, Seattle, .310.
6. Nate Colbert, San Diego, .299.
7. Rusty Staub, Montreal, .291.
8. Ollie Brown, San Diego, .286.
9. Bob Oliver, Kansas City, .289.
10. Tommy Harper, Seattle, .284.

Ranking the top five expansion pitchers on the basis of their earned run averages up to Tuesday, they rate in this order:

1. Moe Drabowsky, Kansas City, 3.1.
2. Diego Segui, Seattle, 1.2-2.25.
3. Bill Stoneman, Montreal, 2.3-2.21.
4. Steve Jones, Kansas City, 2.1-2.45.
5. Marty Pattin, Seattle, 4.1-3.05.
Drabowsky, 33-year-old relief pitcher selected by the Royals from the Baltimore Orioles at the going price of $175,000, was the No. 21 selection.

O-City Batters Omahans, 11-4

Omaha (AP) — Oklahoma City unleashed a 13-hit attack Tuesday night in battering the Omaha Royals, 11-4, in American Association baseball.

A grand slam home run by Keith Lampard in the fifth inning was the clincher for the Omahans.

The blow off Galen Cisco moved the 89ers to a 7-1 lead. Royals' left-hander Paul Splitter was tagged for three runs and six hits in his three inning stint.

Omaha rallied for three runs in the sixth on Dennis Paepke's two-run homer that drove starter Steve Bailey from the mound. But Bailey gained his first victory against two defeats.

Harvey Singer hit a two-run double in the bottom of the eighth inning, one of only two hits Flynn's Motor City got all night, to knock in the winning runs as the motormen edged Skyline, 6-5, in the opening night of AAA Lincoln softball action Tuesday night.

Gates Opened At Aqueduct

New York (AP) — Racing will be resumed at Aqueduct today after a nine-day closing due to a boycott of the track by horsemen over a dispute on a proposed pension plan.

The New York State Racing Association announced at mid-afternoon Tuesday that resumption of racing Wednesday with a nine-race program.

Trainers and owners were being urged by a loudspeaker to enter their horses and end the boycott which has closed the track for nine racing days at a cost of an estimated $4 million in revenue to the state.

As far as could be learned, 42 entries were in the box, including steeplechasers.

There was talk, however, that it might be difficult to find jockeys for the entries and there was a possibility that the grooms might leave their jobs in support of the boycott.

Jim Hershberger Gives KU Money To Build Track

Wichita (AP) — James W. Hershberger, Wichita oil operator, gave the University of Kansas $125,000 Tuesday to build an all-weather track.

Wade Stinson, KU athletic director, told a news conference the donation will enable the school to start work soon on construction of an eight-lane track that hopefully will be done by Sept. 1. It will be named the "Jim Hershberger Track."

Hershberger ran the 440 and 880-yard events for KU in the early 1950s. He has said an all-weather track would be a big help for the annual Kansas Relays.

Popp, Frillman Tie For Honors

Omaha — Bob Popp of the Omaha Country Club and John Frillman of Omaha's Happy Hollow Country Club tied for low individual honors with four-over-par 76s in a pro-am event played in heavy rain at Frillman's home course here.

Paul Wilcox, Frillman's assistant, was third with a 78.

In the two-man, best-ball competition, the Omaha Country Club tandem of Popp and assistant Gene Johnson won with 73 while Frillman teamed with Bill Scarborough, Omaha Highland Country Club assistant, to tie for second with Wilcox and Kent Lyons, also an assistant at Highland, with 74.

KU Leads Conference Cindermen

Kansas City (AP) — Big Eight athletes, honing for next week's conference track and field championships at Ames, Iowa, came up with their best marks of the spring in six events last weekend and matched a season best in a seventh event.

Leading the parade, as usual was potent Kansas. Jayhawkers posted new season marks in four events.

Jim Ryun and Karl Salb led the way. Ryun pranced the 3-mile run in 13:29.3, whacking nearly 19 seconds off the previous best time for the event this spring. Glenn Ogden of Missouri has run it in 13:48.0 earlier. Salb threw the shot 67 feet, one-half inch to eclipse his previous best throw this spring of 66-4/4.

Kansas' Jim Niehouse ran the 880 in 1:49.6 and Kansas State's Ken Swenson did 1:50.3, both times below Swenson's 1:50.4, which was the best this spring until last Saturday.

The KU 440-yard relay team of George Byers, Mickey Mathews, Stan Whitley and Julio Meade turned in a time of 40 seconds flat, bettering Kansas' previous best of :40.3.

Ray McGill of Kansas State recorded another outdoor best this spring with a leap of 6-10 1/2 in the high jump. He had done 6-10 earlier.

The new best for the season was notched by Eddie Tilton of Colorado, who sped the 440 in 45.9 seconds. His :47.4 had been best.

Missouri's Mel Gray matched the best this spring in the 220 with a :20.9 clocking. Gray and Meade both had done that well previously.

Kansas recorded its new bests in a dual meet with Southern Illinois, while Kansas State competed against Missouri and Colorado at Frillman's home course here.

Kansas State is host to the Air Force Academy, Missouri goes to Nebraska and Colorado runs at Fort Collins, Colo., this Saturday.

Doane Golfers Take NAIA District Title

Summer School Enrollments May Be Up 30%

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Summer school enrollments in the Lincoln Public Schools may be more than 30% higher than last year, Supt. John Prasch told the Board of Education Tuesday.

More than 1,930 students have pre-registered for elementary summer school classes, Prasch reported. Some 690 secondary students have paid tuition fees already for junior high and high school classes.

Enrollments are expected to soar even higher as classes are finalized and year-end grades are revealed, he added.

The summer session is scheduled June 10-July 29.

"Disappointing," Prasch noted that the "selection of subjects has been disappointing, however." The "Frontier Nebraska on Wheels" class which was to have included a five-day trip through the state, apparently will not have enough students to be scheduled.

Elementary students signed up in numbers large enough to warrant classes at each of the nine proposed schools, according to Prasch. Enough interest also has been expressed in transportation to the secondary classes at East High to operate at least two buses.

Package enrollments — where one student signs up for three classes — are also up, thus making the district eligible for state aid on a per-student basis, Prasch said.

Action Deferred

Board members deferred action on a salary schedule for clerical employees of the school district. After a lengthy discussion, some board members indicated they would like to have a new schedule proposed.

Personnel Director Carroll

Sawin had recommended a pay raise of about 5% for the schools' stenographers, secretaries and other clerical personnel. In conjunction with a 2% increment for employees on the salary schedule, raises would average 7%.

Average salary increases of 20 cents per hour for lunchroom workers and 40 cents per hour for cafeteria managers were approved by the school board for negotiation with the lunchroom employees. Associate Supt. Robert Den Hartog will negotiate the salary package.

Late Summer

Operation and maintenance employees' salaries, based on a percentage of labor union scales, apparently will not be settled until late summer when the unions conclude negotiations, it was reported.

Board members adjourned to an executive session to discuss performances and salary increases for top school administrators not covered by the negotiated salary schedules.

In other business the board: —Directed that a letter be sent to the Goodrich Junior High School contractor urging some action "as a public service" to get the new building completed on schedule in spite of the labor union strike.

—Extended the time period to six weeks within which students may continue attendance in Lincoln without tuition charge if their parents move from the district during that time.

—Argued about the use of annexing vs. transporting students to handle temporary overcrowding situations.

Appointed Dr. Ronald O. Massie, 39, a former Lincoln teacher, math consultant at a salary of $14,850.

Accepted the resignation of James H. Hulse, 30, Lincoln principal, who will become a high school principal in Manhattan, Kan.

Runaways Boost Denver Drug Woes

By DAVE ZIMMERMAN
Star Staff Writer

A Denver district attorney said Tuesday that Denver is hard hit by drug abuse because the Colorado city attracts many runaways from the Midwest and "sophisticated Huck Finns" who arrive from the west and east coasts.

Speaking at the 16th annual Nebraska Law Enforcement Institute, James D. McKevitt said the problem will be compounded in July when "35,000 hippie-types" are expected to arrive in Colorado after fleeing California because of earthquake predictions there.

The district attorney said youngsters who wish to experiment with drugs find themselves using drugs and their morals completely changed within five days after their arrival in Denver.

McKevitt, who emphasized that the drug problem is no longer strictly an urban problem, said it is "no farther away than the family medicine cabinet."

Wide-scale narcotic laws violations were also formerly limited to college towns, he said, but now such activity is seen wherever there is a military base or a school.

McKevitt did not exclude elementary schools, and he said that junior high schools were common scenes of drug traffic.

Catholic School Unit Sets Pius X Teachers Salaries

Lay teachers at Pius X High School will receive salary increases comparable to the Lincoln Public Schools teachers, the Catholic Board of Education has decided.

Board members adopted a salary schedule with a $6,400-$9,400 range for teachers with bachelors' degrees and $7,000-$11,100 range for teachers with masters' degrees.

Intermediate steps providing higher salaries for teachers with graduate hours in between degrees, included in the public school schedule, were not accepted by the board.

Salaries for elementary teachers in the Lincoln Catholic schools are still negotiated individually by parish pastors.

Salaries, based on the newly adopted schedule, will total $188,487 of the proposed Pius budget of $302,327 for 1969-70, according to Pius Supt. Father Ivan Vap.

The proposed budget, which is expected to be approved at the May 26 board meeting, is $54,081 higher than the 1968-69 budget.

In other action board members approved cumulative sick leave for the lay teachers at Pius. Teachers receive five days of sick leave per year.

City Equalization Board Overrules Two Objections

The City Council, sitting as the Board of Equalization, Tuesday overruled two objections on special assessments for repaving and water districts.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville DePrain of 2100 Smith protested that $16 per front foot to repave, add curbing and fill in borrow pits was excessive.

Russell Nelson of Palmyra, Wis., objected in a letter to being assessed for a water line running down 56th St. between Pioneers Blvd. and Old Cheney Road.

Phi Beta Kappa Initiation Slated

Initiation ceremonies will be held Sunday afternoon for 67 new members of Phi Beta Kappa scholastic honorary at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln.

The program begins at 3 p.m. in the Nebraska Union. Miss Kay Thompson, director of the Malone Community Center, will speak on the topic, "We Must Help the Negro Child."

Here's our offer!

Use PLUS 2 on your lawn
but don't pay for it until your weeds are gone!

That's how sure we are of Scotts famous TURF BUILDER PLUS 2. Time and again we've seen it turn scraggly weed patches into thick, vibrantly green turf.

Put PLUS 2 on your lawn this week end. For the first few days nothing much will seem to happen. Then one day you'll notice that the weeds have begun to shrivel. A few days later they'll disappear completely—roots and all.

In their place will be healthy green turf—the result of the fertilizing action of PLUS 2. It's a full-feeding too, equivalent to Scotts famous Turf Builder. Makes grass plants spread out to fill in those places where the weeds were.

The time to use PLUS 2 is right now, while weeds are actively growing. You put it on just like ordinary fertilizer. It's clean, lightweight, and easy to handle.

So pick up your PLUS 2 this week and don't pay for it until your weeds are gone.

Plan To Utilize Part Of Old Hospital Presented

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County Commissioner William Grossman Tuesday submitted to city officials and the Lincoln General Hospital Board a six-point proposal for utilization of a portion of the old Lincoln General Hospital building for extended care facilities for the indigent.

He proposed that the newer portion of the former Lincoln General Hospital be operated as a care facility and that the older portion of the former hospital be torn down.

Grossman said this facility, which could be sealed off at the end where it adjoins the older facility, could provide 150 care home beds.

Less Expensive

"As I understand, a care home should be less expensive to operate than either a nursing home or a convalescent hospital . . . and this is the area of greatest need for Lancaster County," Grossman said.

Physical facilities such as width of doors, toilet facilities and restrictions on number of square feet per patient are more rigid for nursing homes than care homes.

In addition, regulations for nursing homes require that a registered nurse be on duty round the clock, while care homes need have only licensed practical nurses on duty.

Seeks Easy Lease

His second point in the proposal is that the city lease the hospital at "virtually no rental to enable the county to make repairs to that portion of the building and convert it into a care home."

The commissioner said that he thought the county would have sufficient funds to convert the newer portion of the hospital into a care facility provided the city would not require any substantial rental and that the heat could be purchased from the new Lincoln General Hospital.

He further stated that he didn't feel air conditioning in the facility would be necessary since there are sufficient window units available to provide necessary air conditioning.

Grossman further proposed that the city sell at a nominal amount or lease the beds and equipment to the county for use in this care home.

Avoid Purchase

"This would avoid the county's having to purchase beds and furniture to furnish the care home," he said, "and I would doubt that there would be a great market for such used equipment and certainly the county could make use of such furniture."

Grossman further suggested that the designation of the Convalescent Hospital be changed to nursing home and that additional floors be constructed to expand this facility.

He said that a firm should be employed to operate the proposed care home and the Convalescent Hospital or nursing home as a county facility.

"I honestly think that persons experienced in this area could operate it for us and even make a profit and do it cheaper than we could ourselves particularly if they had to make no initial substantial investment," he said.

Beauty Area

Grossman's sixth point was that of beautification of the area in order to amplify the beauty of Lincoln General Hospital and the county buildings.

Dr. G. R. Underwood, county-city medical coordinator, stated that skilled nursing care can be provided in the present Convalescent Hospital but the county could utilize the newer portion of the former Lincoln General Hospital as a care home facility.

County Welfare Director J. Earle Trabert said that within the past week physicians have asked that eight county patients be removed from hospitals other than the Convalescent Unit and be placed in nursing homes.

On Monday, he said, nine women and seven men should have been placed in nursing homes but because of no available facilities, it was necessary to keep them in the hospital.

Oliva said he sought the recognition only for the community organization staff, which comprises about 25% of LAP's staff.

According to him, the employees, who must be low-income persons to qualify for the community organizer positions, asked for union membership because they are "dissatisfied with their general working conditions."

The staff members, Oliva said, complained to him about wage differences, required duties that take up their free time, and the heavy work load.

County Refers Reappraisal Contract To County Attorney

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday referred to the county attorney's office for study a proposed contract presented by Cole-Layer-Trumble Co. to maintain the county's real estate reappraisal through the end of 1969.

The special contract, which will run from June 1 through Dec. 31 at a cost of $30,000, provides for the firm to value new construction and make alterations needed because of new subdivisions or zoning changes.

According to Assessor Fritz Meyer, if the contract is not approved, the county would be valuating new property for the last half of the year with its outdated methods and the valuations on property for the first half of the year would be placed by the reappraisal firm with new methods.

The county assessor's office staff anticipates being able to value with new methods after the reappraisal firm's manuals and methods are turned over to them at the end of the year.

In other action Tuesday, the board authorized County Treasurer C. E. Berg to reinvest for 60 days $200,000 of the county's $2.2 million bond issue for the County-City Building into U.S. Treasury Bills.

It was noted that since construction workers are on strike the money wouldn't be needed for that length of time and could be earning interest.

New Daily Television Series For Preschoolers Is Announced

An unusual nationwide press conference, conducted on television Tuesday for newsmen in a New York City studio as well as in 120 local educational TV stations including Lincoln, announced a new daily television series for preschool children.

The series, titled "Sesame Street," will be broadcast over the Nebraska ETV network at 4:30 p.m., beginning Nov. 10. Some of the hour-long programs may be rebroadcast on weekends, reported NETV Educational Director Jerry DePrenger.

Created and produced by the Children's Television Workshop with an $8 million budget for the series, "Sesame Street" will use entertainment techniques common to commercial television to teach the potential audience of 12 million three, four and five-year-old children.

The experimental program, which will use repeated commercial-like segments to "sell" the alphabet and numbers, has been designed to demonstrate whether entertainment techniques can be put to meaningful educational purposes.

Animated sequences, TV and movie stars appearing as guests and three or four co-hosts will be featured in the informal, magazine format of the daily programs.

Through local stations carrying the show, parents and teachers may obtain monthly program guides previewing contents of each show and suggesting follow-up activities.

The nationwide news conference format was the first aspect of a planned "ambitious" promotional campaign to assure the largest possible audience.

Taste is the name of the game.
